May 5, 1763. NUMB. 1793.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

PARIS, January 24.

WE have received the following account of the capture of the Baſiliſk bomb, by the Audacieuſe privateer, of Bayonne.

The Audacieuſe, a frigate of 18 guns, and 140 men, commanded by Captain Minbielle, ſailed from Bayonne on the 2d of October, and upon the 29th, on the Banks of Newfoundland, fell in with the Baſiliſk, which carried 18 guns, and 60 men. The engagement began with the greateſt vivacity; the Baſiliſk's mizen-maſt was ſoon carried away; moſt of her hands wounded, and the Captain himſelf received ſeveral wounds; but inſtead of yielding, he was ſeen with his drawn ſword, daring the Audacieuſe's men, and exhorting his own people rather to die, than to ſtrike. Upon which Captain Minbielle gave orders for boarding. The two veſſels ſoon grappled, and the engagement became more hot than ever. At laſt, the Engliſh Captain and his Firſt Lieutenant being no longer able to keep the deck, the French made themſelves maſters of the ſhip. An Engliſhman who was on the point of throwing a box of diſpatches into the ſea, was prevented by a blow from a ſabre.

The French frigate received very little damage, and had only three men wounded. Above half of the ſhip's company of the Baſiliſk were wounded: The Captain is dead of his wounds: He was diſpatched from the Havannah by Admiral Pococke, on the 12th of October. Capt. Minbielle returned to Port Paſſage on the 2d inſt. His prize arrived there a few days before.

Warſaw, Jan. 8. We have no news from Courland of any importance, but Count Kayzerling has ſent a circular letter to each Senator of this Republick, with an expoſition of the motives of the Empreſs of Ruſſia, for taking the part ſhe does in the affair of Courland, in favour of the pretenſions of the Duc de Biron.

Count de Borck, Chambellan of Livonia, departs in two days for Moſcow, to make repreſentations to the Empreſs againſt her interfering in the affairs of Courland, as being a fief of the Republick.

Hanover, Jan. 24. There is a rumour of new commotions in Weſtphalia, and that eight regiments of our foot, four of horſe, and the corps of Hunters, are to march there.

Paris, Jan 18. The artificers at Breſt work with great diligence in rebuilding our navy. The flat bottomed boats are broke up, for the ſake of the timber, which is excellent.

Warſaw, Jan. 11. The King, reſolved to make a final effort in favour of his ſon Charles, ſends to Moſcow a Lord of the Bedchamber, with a letter wrote with his Majeſty's own hand to the Empreſs of Ruſſia.

Modena, Jan. 15. A marriage between the Duke de Chablais, Prince of Sardinia, and the ſecond daughter of the King of Portugal, which has been talked of for two years, is on the point of being concluded. The Miniſter is named who is to make a demand in form of the Princeſs. Another match is talked of, between the Archduke Petin Leopold of Auſtria, and an Infanta of Spain.

Naples, Jan. 8. The following adventure has been publiſhed in our Gazette. A married man of Cremona being miſſing for two or three years, and his wife having, in the mean while, contracted a great intimacy with another man, ſhe was accuſed by common fame of murdering her huſband, and brought to a trial. Being put on the rack, to avoid the torture ſhe accuſed herſelf of a crime of which ſhe was innocent; and in conſequence thereof was hanged, and her body thrown into the Po. Five or ſix days after her execution, arrives her huſband from Parma, where he had engaged himſelf for three years. Hearing what had happened, he went to his wife's accuſers and her judges, to exculpate her. They treated him as an impoſtor, and inſiſted that the woman's huſband muſt be dead, as ſhe had been executed for murdering him.

Warſaw, Jan. 19. The Court are ſending to Mittau the Caſtellan Lipſka, to make repreſentations to the States of Courland, in favour of Prince Charles; and M. de Borck is ſet out for Moſcow upon the ſame affair.

It is determined to ſummon a Senatus Conſilium for the approaching month of February.

Genoa, Jan. 15. Our laſt letters from Spain import, that the Court is reſolved to keep up the marine; and intend to have in the midſt of peace as many ſailors as would be requiſite in time of war, and to let them, till wanted, ſerve on board the regiſter-ſhips, merchantmen, &c.

Toulon, Jan. 30. Two ſhips of the line, and a frigate, are getting ready, to go to take on board the troops that are at Minorca, and deliver up that iſland to the Engliſh.

Modena, Feb. 8. By the treaty of Aix-la Chapelle, the dutchy of Placentia, in caſe of the then King of Naples aſcending the Spaniſh throne on the death of his brother, was to devolve to the King of Sardinia; the courts of Verſailles and Madrid have agreed to pay his Sardinian Majeſty 400,000 Piedmonteſe livres a year, as an equivalent for the revenue of Placentia, which is to remain in the poſſeſſion of the Duke of Parma, revertible, on the extinction of his family, to the King of Sardinia's houſe.

Cadiz, Jan. 28. A Dutch man of war arrived here the 21ſt, and it is ſaid ſhe will be followed by ſeveral other veſſels, to form a ſmall ſquadron againſt the Algerines, who ſeem diſpoſed to break with the Dutch. The motives of this rupture are ſaid to be a neglect of the Dutch to fulfil the laſt treaty with Algiers.

Hague, Feb. 11. Letters from Paris of the 5th inſtant ſay, that the inclemency of the ſeaſon had occaſioned a great ſickneſs in that city, the inhabitants not being enured to ſevere froſts, which had carried off a great number of people.

They write from Cologn, of the 5th inſtant, that the floating ice in the Rhine had made terrible havock among the ſmall veſſels, ſeveral of which, with their cargoes, were ſunk, and others received much damage; and that they feared an inundation.

The Royal Academy of Sciences and Belles Lettres of Berlin had a public meeting laſt month, on the anniverſary of his Pruſſian Majeſty's birth day (who then entered into his 52d year) when Profeſſor Formey, Perpetual Secretary, opened the aſſembly with the following ſpeech.

Gentlemen,

"WE have long admired a prodigy, which ſeems to have been reſerved for our age, and which will be the aſtoniſhment of ages to come. A King of Pruſſia holding in balance, and even in awe, the forces of the moſt formidable powers of Europe; who thought, rather, that he could not have found the reſources neceſſary for ſupporting a war, the duration and violence of which he muſt naturally have ſunk under. What miracles have we not already celebrated on theſe anniverſaries! At preſent, gentlemen, we are in expectation of a new prodigy, which will crown all the preceding, and which will give us a joy exempt from all mixture of bitterneſs: To ſee this ſame Monarch glorioully terminating his labours and his battles by an honourable, advantageous, and ſolid peace, of which we ſhall not fail to feel the moſt happy effects. If we are not yet permitted to announce it to you, we are at leaſt to expreſs our common wiſhes for its accompliſhment. The happy concluſion of the laſt campaign under the auſpices of this hero, who reunites the talents of Fabius and the Scipio's, muſt have doubtleſs been a great introduction to this happy epoch. If it becomes realiſed, we ſhall ſoon ſee thoſe victorious hands, which have gained ſuch memorable battles, cultivating themſelves the laurels, whoſe immortal branches adorn their head. We ſhall ſee our Muſes reanimated with a new fire, contending to celebrate their generous protectors, their auguſt deliverers.

"We have for ſome time reckoned the years of FREDERIC by his exploits; we ſhall now begin to count them by his benefactions, or, to ſpeak more juſtly, by a new kind of benefactions, by the tender cares which he will dedicate to the re-eſtabliſhment of the public proſperity, of which his life is no leſs the pledge, than it has ever been that of our preſervation."

Feb. 18. By our laſt advices from the army of the Circles we hear, that the diſlocation of it was already begun, the Palatine troops, under the command of General Efferen, being already on their march home.

Feb. 22. By the peace concluded in Germany, it is ſaid that all Sileſia, and the county of Glatz, are guarantied to his Pruſſian Majeſty; which is all he ever contended for. He would have made peace upon the ſame terms two years ago.

The King of Pruſſia will now be looked upon, by all the world, as the HERO of the age; and will doubtleſs be a principal Arbiter of Europe. How will this hiſtory aſtoniſh future ages, when they read, that the Empreſs of Ruſſia, the Queen of Hungary, the Kings of France and Sweden, and the Elector of Saxony, had laid a deep and premeditated ſcheme to deſtroy him, and ſo divide his country among them; and that notwithſtanding their troops were joined by the whole army of the Empire, and alſo by the troops of Auſtria and Bohemia, yet his Pruſſian Majeſty, by his conduct and his intrepidity, baffled all their efforts, and obliged thoſe Powers to ſheath their ſwords in the year 1763, and to leave him in actual poſſeſſion of that very country, on the account of which he was to have been uniuſtly deſtroyed.

LONDON, February 3.

A gentleman who arrived in town yesterday from the West of England, says, that there has been no frost there, but as fine, open, serene weather, as ever was known; and the first appearance he found of the frost, was not till he got upwards of 20 miles on this side of Exeter.

We hear from Saltash, in Cornwall, that they never had a more moderate winter than the present, scarce having either frost or snow.

It is said a Lady of great quality in France is coming to England, to be married to an English gentleman, who lately made a tour to Paris.

Tuesday died, at his house in Grace-church-street, Mr. John East, one of the people called Quakers, and one of the oldest Merchants in the Bermuda trade.

On the 16th died at Paris, aged 113, Mr. John Constant, born at Limoux, in Languedoc, June, 4, 1649. He was a Lieutenant on half-pay of the regiment of Vieille Marine, and in 25 years service received 7 wounds. He quitted the army in 1688. He used to say, that he was by General St. Hilaire's side when that officer had his arm carried off, in the same instant that the Great Turenne was killed by a cannon ball. The Prince of Conty gave orders for Constant's burial, and defrayed the expence of it.

It is asserted that in the Definitive Treaty there will be a Clause inserted for the mutual surrender of all traitors, murderers, and felons, between the courts of Great-Britain, France, Spain, and Portugal.

A few days since a vessel arrived at Plymouth from Belleisle, with several officers of the train of artillery, matrosses, and some builders, who had been sent over there by the office of the ordnance, to repair the fortifications on that island, by whom we are informed that the repairs made there amount to upwards of 100,000 l.

Feb. 5. Last Tuesday there was the highest tide at Portsmouth that has been known for many years. The inhabitants at the Point were obliged to go in boats from house to house.

Extract of a letter from Martinico, Dec. 6.

"The Brilliant, Boyd, very rich, from London to Martinico, foundered at sea, about 130 leagues from Martinico, by a plank starting; the crew saved themselves in their boats, but, coming near the island, were met in a miserable situation, almost famished, by a French privateer, who added to their sufferings, by stripping them all naked, and taking about 4000 l. in dollars from them, which they had saved."

Feb. 8. Friday night the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor gave a ball and supper to his Royal Highness the Duke of York; at which were present the two Princes of Mecklenburgh, many of the foreign Ministers, upwards of a hundred of the Nobility, a larger number of the Gentlemen of the House of Commons, and other persons of distinction, seventeen of the Aldermen, and very many Ladies of quality.

It is said that the King of Portugal has, at the recommendation of his Excellency the Count La Lippe, presented Major Macbean, of the royal British artillery, with a commission of Lieutenant Colonel, with double pay and appointments, for his services while he commanded the artillery, during the late campaign in that kingdom.

Feb. 10. We hear that no money will be raised this year for the Government by subscription.

Yesterday the Right Hon. the Earl of Sandwich kissed his Majesty's hand at St. James's, on being appointed Ambassador to Spain.

On Monday Sir Charles Saunders was knighted by his Majesty at St. James's, he being abroad when the Order of the Bath was sent to him. All knights of the Orders are made Knights by his Majesty on their creation, if at home, and if not, the first time they come to St. James's after their arrival.

Feb. 12. By a ship arrived from Rochfort, we learn, that the French are very busy in preparing another large dock in that place, capable of building ships of 90 or 100 guns, and that several first and second rates are near half finished, and four more about to be laid on the stocks.

At this conjuncture, the superstition of the Portuguese may be so complaisant to the British, the only friends they have on earth, who are residents on their island of Madeira, as to grant them the liberty of interring their dead on shore, and not (denying that humble boon as they have ever done heretofore, to those who are not of their communion) carry them out in a boat, guarded by soldiers, and throw them into the sea, a league from shore! It is a pity, and a shame, that this disgrace has not been removed long ago.

Feb. 15. A scheme is under consideration for employing the soldiers in repairing the public roads, to inure them to labour and industry.

The Thames rose so high yesterday, that many houses on the Surry shore were two or three feet deep in water; and at Lambeth the Long-Walk, by the Bishop's Palace, was overflowed, and boats were employed in the town, to carry people from house to house.

Yesterday the tide was so high, occasioned by a strong Easterly wind, that the lower parts of many houses in Wapping were overflowed, and the inhabitants were obliged to get into the one pair of stairs rooms to save themselves: The lower parts of several houses were also overflowed in Tooley-street.

Last Sunday afternoon the water was above two feet deep in Westminster-hall, occasioned by the extraordinary high tide.

Feb. 17. Several principal traders have within these few weeks past come over here from different parts of the coast of France, in order to purchase English goods.

We hear that Mr. White, the Chemist, receives from his Majesty, to enable him to prepare the late Mr. Ward's medicines at so easy a rate, that they may be purchased by the Poor, a pension of 300 l. a year; and Mr. D'Osterman receives, on the same account, a pension of of 200 l. a year.

Letters from Paris advise, that on Thursday last, at night, among many other elegant illuminations in that city, on account of the Definitive Treaty being signed, was one adorned with the British arms, and under it in capitals, long live the Duke of Bedford.

Feb. 19. The heavy rains that have fallen lately have swelled the Thames, near Windsor, higher than it has been these thirty years.

Extract of a letter from Paris, Feb. 12.

"The majority of our Council had very nigh overturned all the articles in the salutary work of peace; when the King being informed by his Minister of their proceedings, and at the same time, urged to accept of the generous terms the King of Great Britain offered him, and that if he did not, it would ruin his people, the King ordered the treaty should be brought to him, when he immediately signed it without any other ceremony, to the great joy of the public in general."

We hear that her Majesty has been most graciously pleased to signify her intention of taking under her patronage fifty girls, not under six years of age, daughters of land officers, and who have lost their lives in the service of the country, during the late war, and have left their families unprovided for. They are to learn all genteel accomplishments, to be uniformly dressed, and kept till they are 18 years of age, and then to be placed out in the service of different ladies amongst the nobility and gentry, and to have a certain sum each, in order to cloath them in a decent manner; an act of generosity worthy the Royal Mind that has formed it, and truly deserving the imitation of other crowned heads.

The encomium passed on the King of Prussia for his policy in treating sword in hand with his enemy, though undoubtedly an observation which has its foundation in truth, yet is equally due to the Empress Queen, his rival, as well as to any other Monarch. For to the honour of Princes be it spoken, they have so often taken advantage of each other, under the most pacific appearances, and so frequently violated not only words, but even the most solemn oaths, when an opportunity presented of oppressing one another, that they find themselves, the faith of a King is as little to be depended on as that of a common man, and therefore they seldom now a days enter into any negotiation, without being, in the words of Horace, in aurumque sortem bene præparati, i. e. ready either for war or peace.

A necessitous barber observing a quantity of white gunpowder, and imagining it to be powder for the hair, took an opportunity of removing it, and at an assembly at Lyons, in France, a gentleman, at the card table, whose wig had been unfortunately powdered with it, leaning too near the candle, the powder took fire, blasted the face of the company terribly, and by the sudden contraction and distortion of their features, gave them a most ridiculous appearance, which they are likely to carry to their graves; the gentleman's head was burnt in such a manner that only a small part of the cartilaginous substance of the ears remained, and the skin of the head and back part of his neck peeled off entirely, and the sutures of the scull were as plainly to be discovered as in a skeleton. It is said he is since dead.

Feb. 22. The protestant inhabitants of the city of Saarbuch, in Germany, being much reduced by the late terrible war, his Majesty has been graciously pleased to grant them a brief, to enable them to build a Protestant church and a school, which will amount to the sum of 2732 l.

We are informed that some fellows meeting a Captain of a man of war, lately paid off, in revenge for ill usage received from him, actually cut off both his ears.

Last Sunday died at Bristol, Mr. Hobhouse, who had been the most considerable merchant of that city; he had retired from business about six years ago, with a fair and honest character, very rich.

It is apprehended that the scarcity of money will be full as great this year, as any this war. It is true the subscription will be only 3 1-half millions; but the navy and ordnance debt is at least 4 1-half millions, which instead of being paid, is now made into stock, and must all come to market; besides, the late rise of stocks has given an opportunity to the Dutch to withdraw their money from our funds, to employ it in the new French loan, which is at ten per cent, and it is thought many of our countrymen will follow their example: The consequences must be very prejudicial to our trade at this time.

Feb. 24. We hear from Wisbeach, that on Saturday morning last the bank broke between that town and Peterborough, by which, it was computed, 90,000 acres would be laid under water. There is likewise a bank broke, called the Hundred foot, going to Lynn. Some say 20,000l. damage is done by the loss of cole-seed and oats in barns, &c. It is supposed the Duke of Bedford's Thorney estate will be all drowned. Such general floods were never known in that country.

On Tuesday morning early, the Portsmouth stage-coach was attacked within four miles of that place, by two highwaymen; the boatswain of the Neptune man of war being in the coach, fired a pistol, and killed one of the highwaymen; and getting out with another pistol, and his sword in his hand, the other highwayman rode off.

Extract of a letter from Wisbeach, Feb. 25.

"Saturday last, between Crowland and Spalding, the river Welling, in the county of Lincoln, by the force of the waters, broke the bank, and carried away a house, called Brothers House, consisting of frame work, near 60 yards distance before the family discovered it, they being all at dinner; but on looking out, found themselves surrounded with water. By the assistance of a boat they were all taken out, or else must have perished. And on the same day four large breaches in the great bank between Peterborough and Wisbeach, in the Isle of Ely, in the county of Cambridge, broke out of the river Ouse; and the waters meeting together, have overflowed near 400,000 acres of land; and the loss is computed at near 100,000 l.

Monday died at Plaistow, aged upwards of 80, Mr. John Hayward, formerly an eminent Preacher among the people called Quakers.

"We are still impatient to know what turn the dispute between this Republick and the Elector Palatine will take. We expect that it will again come before the States of Holland, who meet next week. It is rumoured, that a motion will be made at this meeting to augment our land forces with 20,000 men, tho' this affair was but lightly touched on by the Council of State in the general petition of this year. In giving a sketch of the present state of affairs in Europe, this Council observed, 'That had they 'had this petition to deliver two months sooner, they could not 'have helped expressing an uneasiness, without being able, perhaps, to signify, with proper circumspection, the grounds there-'of; that a neutrality, though in itself commendable, yet when 'the State was not properly armed, always gave uneasiness; but 'that the farther the war extended, and the less reason there was 'to expect it to extend, the greater room there was to fear that 'the flames thereof would at last gain the territory of the Re-'publick: but that happily they were in a great measure extin-'guished, and the probablity of the speedy conclusion of a peace 'between the principal powers of Europe presented a more agree-'able prospect, and rendered it less necessary for the Council to 'urge the making a provision for securing the tranquillity of the 'State by a large augmentation of the land forces; though a mo-'derate reinforcement would without doubt be a salutary mea-'sure.'

"By the last letters from Liege no day is fixed for the election of a Bishop. The candidates are encreased to eight; four are Barons of the country; the other four are Princes; namely, Prince Clement of Saxony, the Elector of Cologn, the Bishop of Augsbourg, and the Bishop of Wurtzbourg. Of the former, two will probably drop their pretensions; of the latter, Prince Clement bids fairest to succeed.

"We are surprised that we have seen no courier pass through to London, with the news of a peace concluded between the Courts of Vienna and Berlin. All our letters positively assert the fact; but vary as to the date of it."

Feb. 26. By letters received this week from Lisbon, the British troops were still upon the frontiers of Spain.

Feb. 28. All the towns on the Lower Rhine, and in Guelders, belonging to the King Prussia, are to be evacuated by the French on or before the 15th of next month.

Sunday the regiment of blue guards, which landed on Friday from Germany, marched through St. James's park to be quartered at Kensington, Acton, &c.

The scheme for establishing a royal school for educating and maintaining subaltern officers female orphans, whose fathers have been slain this war, is carrying into execution, and the chief director is already appointed.

March 1. They write from Modena, that the King of Sardinia has obtained from England, by way of gift, four ships of war, to be employed in scouring the Italian seas of Corsairs. The Pope hath given permission to his Sardinian Majesty to levy a million of livers yearly on his clergy, to defray the expence of keeping these four vessels, which the Chevalier Balbiana, it is said, is set out from Turin, to receive from his Britannick Majesty.

It is said there are four principal alterations from the preliminary articles in the definitive treaty, in favour of the English merchants, who are to be allowed eighteen months to settle their accounts at, and bring away their property from the evacuated islands.

On Saturday evening last the following shocking affair was transacted in Duke's-Court, near St. Martin's church in the Strand: An elderly man, a German, under decay, lived at the house of a silversmith, in the above Court, went to a public house for a full pot of beer, which he said he would carry home himself; but, after being gone out with it for some time, returned, and sent it by the boy belonging to the alehouse. It is supposed, that during that interval he put some poison into the beer, for the silversmith and his wife, in about an hour after drinking it, were taken so excessively ill, that had they not had immediate assistance from an eminent surgeon in the neighbourhood, they must have soon expired. All the symptoms of their having been poisoned appears; and as a strong corroborating circumstance, the old man has absconded: It is likewise observable, that he often had been inquiring after the state of his friend's affairs, whom he imagined to be rich; and a small remaining quantity of the beer, at the bottom of the pot, has a very disagreeable smell.

Letters from Lisbon, of the 1st of January say that the English fleet of 33 ships from Portsmouth, and 18 from Newfoundland, were arrived there.

The Cunningham, Montgomery, is arrived at Clyde from Virginia, having lately put into Lochindale; while detained there, a ship belonging to London from Jamaica, came in, reduced to the utmost extremity for want of water and provisions, having for three weeks before lived intirely upon rum and sugar. Another ship, bound to Liverpool from the West Indies, had just got into the Sound of Ilay in still greater distress, their provisions and water being intirely exhausted, so that they were under the necessity of eating their dog, shreds of leather, &c. In this situation they beat about for several days; and at last were reduced to think of sacrificing one of their number for subsistence to the remainder, when providentially they discovered land, which revived their spirits, and meeting with a fishing boat, they got assistance and relief from her till they made the shore.

Benjamin Green, Esq; is appointed Governor of Nova Scotia, and will soon set out for that colony.

Stamford, Jan. 26. The following dreadful accident happened 2 or 3 days ago at Corby, near Bourn, in Lincolnshire, a man going out very early in the morning, called up his son, a boy about nine or ten years of age, to go along with him: The wife in bed seemed to take pity of the lad, and bid him come to bed to her, for he should not go. The poor boy had no sooner got into bed, and fallen asleep, than the Woman tied something about his neck, drew him up against the bed-post, and cut his throat from ear to ear. The jury brought in their verdict lunacy.

Sherborne, Feb. 7. A correspondent at Menhenniot, in Cornwall, writes, that the winter there has been as mild as was ever known, and that he has now beans in blossom in his garden.

Corke, Jan. 24. The General Amherst, Capt. Messenger, with 1000 hogsheads of sugar, besides coffee and cotton, from Guadaloupe for London, was taken the 10th ult. by a privateer of 18 guns, belonging to Bayonne, and next day she sunk. The privateer had also taken the ships of Capt. Fennis, from Lancaster to Virginia; Capt. Price, from Liverpool for Africa; and Capt. Gamester, from Virginia for Liverpool; all which Captains were put on board a Dutch ship, and landed at Waterford.

Dublin, Feb. 8. Sunday a number of discharged seamen arrived here from England; one of them had the humanity, on seeing a miserable blind object, almost naked, on George's quay, to take off his great coat and give it him; saying, he was happy in parting with one coat to cover the nakedness of his fellow creature.

NEW-PORT, April 25.

"The 19th Inst. departed this Life, Mrs. ANN FRANKLIN, in the 68th Year of her Life. She had a fine Constitution, firm and strong;---was never sick, nor ailing, scarcely in the whole Course of her Life, till a few Months before her Dissolution; nor never did she ever take any Sort of Medicine in all that long Space of Time, till that Sickness seized her, which brought her down to the Grave. When she reflected, in Health, on the Goodness of her Constitution, she was at a Loss to guess what Part would be attacked by Sickness, in order to bring on her Dissolution.---But in her we see an Instance of the Truth of that Word, 'The strong Men shall bow themselves.''---She was a Widow about 29 Years---And though she had little to depend upon for a Living, yet by her Oeconomy and Industry, in carrying on the PRINTING BUSINESS, supported herself and Family, and brought up her Children in a genteel Manner;---all of whom she buried some time before her Death.-----She was a Woman of great Integrity and Uprightness in her Station and Conversation, and was well beloved in the Town. She was a faithful Friend, and a compassionate Benefactor to the Poor (beyond many of great Estates) and often relieved them in the Extremity of Winter.---And she was a constant and seasonable Attendant on public Worship, and would not suffer herself to be detained by trivial Family Concerns: Herein she excelled most of her Sex.

"She entered into the Christian Life in her early Youth, and has, ever since, adorned her Profession by an exemplary Conversation. And, under all the varying Scenes of Life, and some shocking Trials laid on her in the Wisdom of divine Providence, she maintained a noble Fortitude of Mind, mixt with Patience and Submission to the Will of God; though not without Imperfection.

"For several Weeks before her Death she was in great Darkness and Distress of Mind; but it pleased G d, a few Days before her Departure, to shine in upon her Soul, and lift up the Light of his Countenance upon her, and thereby to give her 'that Peace 'of God, which passeth all Understanding.'

"And so she passed from Time to Eternity in the lively View and Prospect of eternal Life, through Faith in the Son of God, who gave his Life a Ransom for Sinners; that they, and they only, who believe on Him, and obey Him, might have and enjoy a glorious happy Life WITHOUT END, in the open Vision, and full Fruition of the Author of their Being and Blessedness.

"The Memory of the Just is blessed."

Captain Elliot arrived here Yesterday in 25 Days from Barbados, who advises, that an Account was received there, just before he sailed, that the Dutch Settlement of Barbatios was lately surprised and cut off by the Negroes, who massacred all the Inhabitants. Expresses had been dispatched to St. Eustatia, and other Dutch Places, with an Account of this shocking Event.

NEW-YORK,

May 2. Yesterday Morning his Majesty's Ship the Intrepid, of 70 Guns, Capt. Hale, removed into the North River, ready to put off with the first fair Wind.----The Grace, Capt. Chambers, for Bristol, is ready to sail under her Convoy.

On Wednesday last the Harriot Packet, Capt. Robinson, sailed with the Mail for Falmouth.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.

"On the First Instant died, aged Sixty, WILLIAM CALLENDER, many Years an eminent West-India Merchant. In private Life he supported the Character of a fair Trader, and a worthy honest Man. He was several times chosen a Burgess for this City; in which, and other public Stations, he served his Country with Ability, and a distinguished Solicitude for Civil and Religious Liberty. As a Testimony of the Esteem of his Fellow Citizens, his Remains were accompanied by a great Number of the reputable Inhabitants, &c. and interred the Third at Burlington."

Since our last arrived here the Sally, Captain Patrick, and the James and Mary, Captain Sparks, both from London; but their Advices are not so late as we have already received.

WILLING, MORRIS, and COMPANY, have for Sale, a Quantity of Cannon Powder, Florence Oil for Sallad, and Bohea Tea.

Extract of a Letter from London, dated Feb. 18.

"The Definitive Treaty was signed the Tenth Inſtant, and will be ratified a Month hence; after which three Months will be allowed for the Troops to evacuate, and eighteen Months for Engliſh Subjects, in their own Veſſels, to tranſport themſelves, and their Effects.---There is to be an entire Demolition of Dunkirk.---The Points reſpecting the Eaſt-Indies are given up to us; and all Ambiguities, in the Preliminaries, explained in the moſt ſatisfactory Manner for Britain.---The Troops, as they evacuate the Havannah, will take Poſſeſſion of Mobille and St. Auguſtine."

Extract of another Letter from the ſame Place, dated February 21, 1763.

"The Definitive Treaty is now ſigned, and, though it is not yet made public, I can aſſure you (for I have read it) it is better, in many Particulars, than the Preliminary Articles. The Eaſt-India Company's Affairs are ſettled on their own Plan, and Dunkirk is to be demoliſhed, to the Satisfaction of His BRITANNIC MAJESTY. Some ſay the Duke of Bedford behaved with great Firmneſs at Paris; others, that the French, with great Facility, yielded to every Thing we inſiſted on. Be that as it will, we have, beyond all Doubt, obtained a very glorious Peace, which, if we have Sagacity enough to improve, muſt render us a very flouriſhing and happy People.---At preſent all is quiet at home, the Oppoſition to the Peace, which, in Truth, was only an Oppoſition to MEN, not to MEASURES, being now intirely dropt."

The Snow Albemarle, Captain Matthews, is arrived at Liverpool, from this Harbour.

By Captain Butler, from St. Chriſtophers, we have Advice, that four ſmall Veſſels have been cruizing for ſome Time, in a pyratical Manner, off of Guadaloupe and Martinico, and had taken four Veſſels, two of them ſaid to be New-England Men; but that one of the Pyrates was taken, and carried to St. Euſtatia; and that the Captain, named Shott, and ſeven of his Men, had been tried, and received Sentence of Death.

Tueſday the Seventeenth Inſtant, is appointed for holding the PUBLIC COMMENCEMENT in the COLLEGE of this City. The Doors of the PUBLIC HALL will be opened Half an Hour paſt Eight in the Morning, and the Exerciſes begin preciſely at Nine o'Clock; and in the Afternoon at Half an Hour paſt Two. Beſides the Orations and Diſputes by the Candidates, a Piece of Muſic will be performed, which, it is hoped, will give great Entertainment to the Audience.

May 12, 1763. NUMB. 1794.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

By the DUKE OF CUMBERLAND Packet, Captain GOODRIDGE, arrived at New-York, in a ſhort Paſſage from Falmouth, we have the following Advices, viz.

The DEFINITIVE TREATY of Friendſhip and Peace between His BRITANNICK MAJESTY, the MOST CHRISTIAN KING, and the KING OF SPAIN. Concluded at Paris the Tenth Day of February, 1763. To which the King of Portugal acceded on the ſame Day.

In the Name of the Moſt Holy and Undivided TRINITY, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST. So be it.

BE it known to all thoſe to whom it ſhall, or may, in any manner belong.

It has pleaſed the moſt High to diffuſe the ſpirit of union and concord among the Princes, whoſe diviſions had ſpread troubles in the four parts of the world, and to inſpire them with the inclination to cauſe the comforts of peace to ſucceed to the misfortunes of a long and bloody war, which, having ariſen between England and France, during the reign of the moſt ſerene and moſt potent Prince, George the Second, by the Grace of God, King of Great-Britain, of glorious memory, continued under the reign of the moſt ſerene and moſt potent Prince, George the Third, his ſucceſſor, and, in its progreſs, communicated itſelf to Spain and Portugal: Conſequently, the moſt ſerene and moſt potent Prince, George the Third, by the Grace of God, King of Great-Britain, France, and Ireland, Duke of Brunſwick and Lunenbourg, Arch-Treaſurer, and Elector, of the Holy Roman Empire; the moſt ſerene and moſt potent Prince, Lewis the Fifteenth, by the Grace of God, moſt Chriſtian King; and the moſt ſerene and moſt potent Prince, Charles the Third, by the Grace of God, King of Spain, and of the Indies, after having laid the foundations of peace in the Preliminaries, ſigned at Fontainbleau the 3d of November laſt; and the moſt ſerene and moſt potent Prince, Don Joſeph the Firſt, by the Grace of God, King of Portugal and of the Algarves, after having acceded thereto, determined to compleat, without delay, this great and important work. For this purpoſe, the high contracting parties have named and appointed their reſpective Ambaſſadors Extraordinary and Miniſters Plenipotentiary, viz. his Sacred Majeſty the King of Great-Britain, the moſt Illuſtrious and moſt Excellent Lord, John, Duke and Earl of Bedford, Marqueſs of Taviſtock, &c. his Miniſter of State, Lieutenant General of his Armies, Keeper of his Privy Seal, Knight of the moſt Noble Order of the Garter, and his Ambaſſador Extraordinary and Miniſter Plenipotentiary to his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty; his Sacred Majeſty the Moſt Chriſtian King, the moſt Illuſtrious and moſt Excellent Lord, Cæſar Gabriel de Choiſeul, Duke of Praſlin, Peer of France, Knight of his Orders, Lieutenant General of his Armies, and of the Province of Britanny, Counſellor in all his Councils, and Miniſter and Secretary of State, and of his Commands and Finances; his Sacred Majeſty the Catholick King, the moſt Illuſtrious and moſt Excellent Lord, Don Jerome Grimaldi, Marquis de Grimaldi, Knight of the moſt Chriſtian King's Orders, Gentleman of his Catholick Majeſty's Bed-chamber in employment, and his Ambaſſador Extraordinary to his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty; his Sacred Majeſty the moſt Faithful King, the moſt Illuſtrious and moſt Excellent Lord, Martin de Mello and Caſtro, Knight Profeſſed of the Order of Chriſt, of his moſt Faithful Majeſty's Council, and his Ambaſſador and Miniſter Plenipotentiary to his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty.

Who, after having duly communicated to each other their full powers, in good form, copies whereof are tranſcribed at the end of the preſent treaty of peace, have agreed upon the articles, the tenor of which is as follows.

ART. I. There ſhall be a chriſtian, univerſal, and perpetual peace, as well by ſea as by land, and a ſincere and conſtant friendſhip ſhall be re-eſtabliſhed between their Britannick, Moſt Chriſtian, Catholick, and Moſt Faithful Majeſties, and between their heirs and ſucceſſors, kingdoms, dominions, provinces, countries, ſubjects, and vaſſals, of what quality or condition ſoever they be, without exception of places, or of perſons: So that the high contracting parties ſhall give the greateſt attention to maintain, between themſelves and their ſaid dominions and ſubjects, this reciprocal friendſhip and correſpondence, without permitting, on either ſide, any kind of hoſtilities, by ſea or by land, to be committed, from henceforth, for any cauſe, or under any pretence whatſoever, and every thing ſhall be carefully avoided, which might, hereafter, prejudice the union happily re-eſtabliſhed, applying themſelves, on the contrary, on every occaſion, to procure for each other whatever may contribute to their mutual glory, intereſts, and advantages, without giving any aſſiſtance or protection, directly or indirectly, to thoſe who would cauſe any prejudice to either of the high contracting Parties. There ſhall be a general oblivion of every thing that may have been done or committed before, or ſince, the commencement of the war, which is juſt ended.

ART. II. The treaties of Weſtphalia, of 1648; thoſe of Madrid, between the Crowns of Great-Britain and Spain, of 1667, and 1670; the treaties of peace of Nimeguen, of 1678, and 1679; of Ryſwyck, of 1697; thoſe of Peace and of Commerce of Utrecht, of 1713; that of Baden, of 1714; the Treaty of the Triple Alliance of the Hague, of 1717; that of the Quadruple Alliance of London, of 1718; the Treaty of Peace of Vienna, of 1738; the Definitive Treaty of Aix la Chapelle, of 1748; and that of Madrid, between the Crowns of Great-Britain and Spain, of 1750; as well as the Treaties between the Crowns of Spain and Portugal, of the 13th of February, 1668; and of the 6th of February, 1715; and of the 12th of February, 1761; and that of the 11th of April, 1713, between France and Portugal, with the Guaranties of Great-Britain; ſerve as a baſis and foundation to the Peace, and the preſent Treaty: And for this purpoſe, they are all renewed and confirmed in the beſt form, as well as all the Treaties in general, which ſubſiſted between the High Contracting Parties before the war, as if they were inſerted here word for word, ſo that they are to be exactly obſerved, for the future, in their whole tenor, and religiouſly executed on all ſides, in all their points which ſhall not be derogated from by the preſent Treaty, notwithſtanding all that may have been ſtipulated to the contrary by any of the High Contracting Parties: And all the ſaid Parties declare, that they will not ſuffer any privilege, favour, or indulgence, to ſubſiſt, contrary to the Treaties above confirmed, except what ſhall have been agreed and ſtipulated by the preſent Treaty.

ART. III. All the priſoners made, on all ſides, as well by land, as by ſea, and the hoſtages carried away, or given during the War, and to this Day, ſhall be reſtored, without ranſom, ſix weeks, at lateſt, to be computed from the day of the exchange of the ratification of the preſent treaty, each crown reſpectively paying the advances, which ſhall have been made for the ſubſiſtance and maintenance of their priſoners, by the Sovereign of the country where they ſhall have been detained, according to the atteſted receipts and eſtimates, and other authentick vouchers, which ſhall be furniſhed on one ſide and the other: And ſecurities ſhall be reciprocally given for the payment of the debts which the priſoners ſhall have contracted in the countries, where they have been detained, until their entire liberty. And all the ſhips of war and merchant veſſels, which ſhall have been taken, ſince the expiration of the terms agreed upon for the ceſſation of hoſtilities by ſea, ſhall be likewiſe reſtored bonâ fide, with all their crews, and cargoes: And the execution of this article ſhall be proceeded upon immediately after the exchange of the ratifications of this treaty.

ART. IV. His Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty renounces all pretenſions, which he has heretofore formed, or might form, to Nova Scotia, or Acadia, in all its parts; and guaranties the whole of it, and with all its dependencies, to the King of Great Britain: Moreover, his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty cedes, and guaranties to his ſaid Britannick Majeſty, in full right, Canada, with all its dependencies, as well as the iſland of Cape Breton, and all the other iſlands, and coaſts, in the gulph and river of St. Laurence, and, in general, every thing that depends on the ſaid countries, lands, iſlands, and coaſts, with the ſovereignty, property, poſſeſſion, and all rights acquired by treaty or otherwiſe, which the Moſt Chriſtian King, and the Crown of France, have had, till now, over the ſaid countries, iſlands, lands, places, coaſts, and their inhabitants, ſo that the Moſt Chriſtian King cedes and makes over the whole to the ſaid King, and to the Crown of Great Britain, and that in the moſt ample manner and form, without reſtriction, and without any liberty to depart from the ſaid ceſſion and guaranty, under any pretence, or to diſturb Great Britain in the poſſeſſions above-mentioned. His Britannick Majeſty, on his ſide, agrees to grant the liberty of the Catholick religion to the inhabitants of Canada: He will, conſequently, give the moſt preciſe and moſt effectual orders, that his new Roman Catholick ſubjects may profeſs the worſhip of their religion, according to the rites of the Romiſh church, as far as the laws of Great Britain permit. His Britannick Majeſty further agrees, that the French inhabitants, or others, who had been ſubjects of the Moſt Chriſtian King in Canada, may retire, with all ſafety and freedom, wherever they ſhall think proper, and may ſell their eſtates, provided it be to ſubjects of his Britannick Majeſty, and bring away their effects, as well as their perſons, without being reſtrained in their emigration, under any pretence whatſoever, except that of debts, or of criminal proſecutions: The term, limited for this emigration, ſhall be fixed to the ſpace of eighteen months, to be computed from the day of the exchange of the ratification of the preſent treaty.

ART. V. The ſubjects of France ſhall have the liberty of fiſhing and drying on a part of the coaſts of the Iſland of Newfoundland, ſuch as it is ſpecified in the XIIIth Article of the Treaty of Utrecht; which Article is renewed and confirmed by the preſent Treaty (except what relates to the iſland of Cape-Breton, as well as to the other Iſlands and Coaſts, in the Mouth, and in the Gulph, of St. Laurence) And his Britannick Majeſty conſents to leave to the ſubjects of the Moſt Chriſtian King the liberty of fiſhing in the Gulph of St. Laurence, on condition that the ſubjects of France do not exerciſe the ſaid fiſhery, but at the diſtance of three leagues from all the coaſts belonging to Great-Britain, as well thoſe of the Continent, as thoſe of the Iſlands ſituated in the ſaid Gulph St. Laurence. And as to what relates to the fiſhery on the coaſts of the Iſland of Cape-Breton, out of the ſaid Gulph, the ſubjects of the Moſt Chriſtian King ſhall not be permitted to exerciſe the ſaid fiſhery, but at the diſtance of fifteen leagues from the coaſts of the Iſland of Cape-Breton, and the fiſhery on the coaſts of Nova Scotia, or Acadia, and every where elſe out of the ſaid Gulph, ſhall remain on the foot of former Treaties.

ART. VI. The King of Great-Britain cedes the Iſlands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, in full right, to his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, to ſerve as a ſhelter to the French fiſhermen: And his ſaid Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty engages not to fortify the ſaid Iſlands; to erect no buildings upon them, but merely for the convenience of the fiſhery; and to keep upon them a guard of fifty men only for the police.

ART. VII. In order to re-eſtabliſh peace on ſolid and durable foundations, and to remove for ever all ſubjects of diſpute with regard to the limits of the Britiſh and French territories on the Continent of America; It is agreed, that, for the future, the Confines between the dominions of his Britannick Majeſty, and thoſe of his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, in that part of the world, ſhall be fixed irrevokably by a line drawn along the middle of the river Miſſiſippi, from its ſource to the river Iberville, and from thence, by a line drawn along the middle of this river, and the lakes Maurepas and Pontchartrain, to the ſea; and for this purpoſe, the Moſt Chriſtian King cedes in full right, and guaranties to his Britannick Majeſty, the river and port of the Mobile, and every thing which he poſſeſſes, or ought to poſſeſs, on the left ſide of the river Miſſiſippi, except the town of New Orleans, and the iſland in which it is ſituated, which ſhall remain to France; provided that the navigation of the river Miſſiſippi ſhall be equally free, as well to the ſubjects of Great-Britain, as to thoſe of France, in its whole breadth and length, from its ſource to the ſea, and expreſly that part which is between the ſaid iſland of New Orleans, and the right bank of that river, as well as the paſſage both in and out of its mouth: It is further ſtipulated, that the veſſels belonging to the ſubjects of either nation, ſhall not be ſtopped, viſited, or ſubjected to the payment of any duty whatſoever. The ſtipulations inſerted in the IVth article, in favour of the inhabitants of Canada, ſhall alſo take place, with regard to the inhabitants of the countries ceded by this article.

ART. VIII. The King of Great-Britain ſhall reſtore to France the iſlands of Guadaloupe, of Marie Galante, of Deſirade, of Martinico, and of Belleiſle; and the fortreſſes of theſe iſlands ſhall be reſtored in the ſame condition they were in, when they were conquered by the Britiſh arms; provided that his Britannick Majeſty's ſubjects, who ſhall have ſettled in the ſaid iſlands, or thoſe who ſhall have any commercial affairs to ſettle there, or in the other places reſtored to France by the preſent treaty, ſhall have liberty to ſell their lands and their eſtates, to ſettle their affairs, to recover their debts, and to bring away their effects, as well as their perſons, on board veſſels which they ſhall be permitted to ſend to the ſaid iſlands, and other places reſtored as above, and which ſhall ſerve for this uſe only, without being reſtrained on account of their religion, or under any other pretence whatſoever, except that of debts, or of criminal proſecutions: And for this purpoſe, the term of eighteen months is allowed to his Britannick Majeſty's ſubjects, to be computed from the day of the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty: But, as the liberty granted to his Britannick Majeſty's ſubjects, to bring away their perſons and their effects, in veſſels of their nation, may be liable to abuſes, if precautions were not taken to prevent them; It has been expreſly agreed between his Britannick Majeſty, and his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, that the number of Engliſh veſſels, which ſhall have leave to go to the ſaid iſlands and places reſtored to France, ſhall be limited, as well as the number of tons of each one; That they ſhall go in ballaſt; ſhall ſet ſail at a fixed time; and ſhall make one voyage only, all the effects belonging to the Engliſh, being to be embarked at the ſame time. It has been further agreed, That his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty ſhall cauſe the neceſſary paſſports to be given to the ſaid veſſels; That, for the greater ſecurity, it ſhall be allowed to place two French Clerks, or Guards, in each of the ſaid veſſels, which ſhall be viſited in the landing-places, and ports of the ſaid Iſlands, and Places, reſtored to France, and that the merchandize which ſhall be found therein, ſhall be confiſcated.

ART. IX. The Moſt Chriſtian King cedes and guaranties to his Britannick Majeſty, in full right, the Iſlands of Grenada, and of the Grenadines, with the ſame ſtipulations in favour of the inhabitants of this Colony, inſerted in the IVth Article for thoſe of Canada: And the partition of the Iſlands, called Neutral, is agreed and fixed, ſo that thoſe of St. Vincent, Dominica, and Tobago, ſhall remain, in full right, to Great-Britain; and that that of St. Lucia ſhall be delivered to France, to enjoy the ſame likewiſe in full right; and the high contracting parties guaranty the partition ſo ſtipulated.

ART. X. His Britannick Majeſty ſhall reſtore to France the Iſland of Goree, in the condition it was in when conquered. And his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty cedes, in full right, and guaranties to the King of Great-Britain, the river Senegal, with the forts and factories of St. Lewis, Podor, and Galam; and with all the rights and dependencies of the ſaid river Senegal.

ART. XI. In the Eaſt-Indies, Great-Britain ſhall reſtore to France, in the condition they are now in, the different factories which that Crown poſſeſſed, as well on the coaſt of Coromandel and Orixa, as on that of Malabar, as alſo in Bengal, at the beginning of the year 1749. And his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty renounces all pretenſions to the acquiſition which he had made on the coaſt of Coromandel and Orixa, ſince the ſaid beginning of the year 1749. His Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty ſhall reſtore, on his ſide, all that he may have conquered from Great-Britain, in the Eaſt-Indies, during the preſent war; and will expreſly cauſe Natal and Tapanoully, in the Iſland of Sumatra, to be reſtored; he engages further, not to erect fortifications, or to keep troops in any part of the dominions of the Subah of Bengal. And, in order to preſerve future peace on the coaſt of Coromandel and Orixa, the Engliſh and French ſhall acknowledge Mahomet Ally Khan for lawful Nabob of the Carnatick, and Salabat Jing for lawful Subah of the Decan; and both parties ſhall renounce all demands and pretenſions of ſatisfaction, with which they might charge each other, or their Indian Allies, for the depredations, or pillage, committed on the one ſide or on the other, during the war.

ART. XII. The Iſland of Minorca ſhall be reſtored to his Britannick Majeſty, as well as Fort St. Philip, in the ſame condition they were in, when conquered by the arms of the Moſt Chriſtian King; and with the artillery which was there, when the ſaid Iſland, and the ſaid Fort, were taken.

ART. XIII. The town and port of Dunkirk ſhall be put into the ſtate fixed by the laſt Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle, and by former Treaties. The Cunette ſhall be deſtroyed immediately after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty, as well as the forts and batteries which defend the entrance on the ſide of the ſea; and proviſion ſhall be made, at the ſame time, for the wholeſomeneſs of the air, and for the health of the inhabitants, by ſome other means, to the ſatisfaction of the King of Great-Britain.

ART. XIV. France ſhall reſtore all the countries belonging to the Electorate of Hanover, to the Landgrave of Heſſe, to the Duke of Brunſwick, and to the Count of La Lippe Buckebourg, which are, or ſhall be occupied by his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty's arms: The fortreſſes of theſe different countries ſhall be reſtored in the ſame condition they were in, when conquered by the French arms; and the pieces of artillery which ſhall have been carried elſewhere, ſhall be replaced by the ſame number, of the ſame bore, weight, and metal.

ART. XV. In caſe the ſtipulations, contained in the 13th article of the preliminaries, ſhould not be compleated at the time of the ſignature of the preſent treaty, as well with regard to the evacuations to be made by the armies of France of the fortreſſes of Cleves, Weſel, Gueldres, and of all the countries belonging to the King of Pruſſia, as with regard to the evacuations to be made by the Britiſh and French armies of the countries which they occupy in Weſtphalia, Lower Saxony, on the Lower Rhine, the Upper Rhine, and in all the Empire, and to the retreat of the troops into the dominions of their reſpective Sovereigns; their Britannick and Moſt Chriſtian Majeſties promiſe to proceed, bona fide, with all the diſpatch the caſe will permit of, to the ſaid evacuations, the entire completion whereof they ſtipulate before the 15th of March next, or ſooner, if it can be done; and their Britannick and Moſt Chriſtian Majeſties further engage, and promiſe to each other, not to furniſh any ſuccours, of any kind, to their reſpective allies, who ſhall continue engaged in the war in Germany.

ART. XVI. The deciſion of the prizes made, in time of peace, by the Subjects of Great-Britain, on the Spaniards, ſhall be referred to the courts of juſtice of the Admiralty of Great-

HAGUE, February 25.

AT Genoa it is reported, that ſome diſputes having ariſen in the Senate, with reſpect to the war in Corſica, an embarkation, intended for that iſland, has been countermanded. A rumour prevails, as if his Sardinian Majeſty intended to renew his claim to the Marquiſate of Final. But it is alſo reported, and generally believed, that a congreſs will be ſpeedily held either at Bologna, or at ſome other city, for terminating amicably and finally all the diſputes ſubſiſting amongſt the Italian Princes.

Mittau, in Courland, Jan. 23. Yeſterday Duke Erneſtus John de Biren made his publick entry here. The magiſtrates and the guard of burghers refuſed to aſſiſt at this ceremony, or to take the oaths to him, till they were compelled to do it by the Ruſſian troops in the town, who, to ſtrike the greater terror, rung the tocſin, or alarm bell. They alſo forced the magiſtrates to deliver to them the city flag, to be carried in the proceſſion. The Ruſſian ſoldiers were likewiſe obliged to ſtand over the ringers, otherwiſe the bells would have been ſilent on this occaſion. The preceding night the triumphal arch erected in 1759, in honour of Duke Charles of Saxony, was pulled down, and his arms and his name taken away, and erazed, wherever they appeared.

A Ruſſian officer has ſignified to the regency of this country, That it was the Czarina's pleaſure that they ſhould acknowledge the Duke de Biren for their lawful Sovereign. The regency have declared, that they never will violate their oath to Duke Charles. Every body is alarmed, and the Ruſſians act with great rigour. Mean while Duke Charles is ſtill here, and ſeems determined to ſet us an example of ſteadineſs.

Warſaw, Feb. 5. Letters from Smolenſko adviſe, that the troubles in the palatinate of Miciſlau are far from being appeaſed; and that if a commiſſion be not appointed to make enquiries, and ſettle this affair ſpeedily, many thouſand Ruſſians may enter that province, to avenge the death of their countrymen, killed in the late encounter; upwards of 1000 Ruſſians are ſaid to have fallen therein, and among them the Knees Lebredow, brother of the Governor of Smolenſko: This latter has offered 10,000 rubles for the body, in order to have it buried at Moſcow, but in vain, all the ſlain having been thrown into the river.

Ratiſbon, Feb. 21. The 19th M. Le Baron Plotho received a courier, who brought him a reſcript from the King of Pruſſia, dated the 15th inſtant, with the news, that the peace was ſigned that morning at Hubertſbourg, between his Pruſſian Majeſty, her Majeſty the Empreſs Queen, and the Elector of Saxony, on the baſis of the treaties of Breſlau and Dreſden; and that conſequently, the county of Glatz, and all the countries belonging to his Pruſſian Majeſty in Weſtphalia, and on the Lower Rhine, are to be reſtored to him; whereupon M. Plotho ſent yeſterday his Secretary of Legation, to notify to the principal Imperial Commiſſary, and the other Imperial Miniſters, as well as to all the other Miniſters at the Diet, this happy event.

Vienna, Feb. 19. Laſt night M. Leſerer, who has ſerved as Secretary to M. de Collinbach during the Congreſs of Hubertſbourg, arrived here with the treaty of peace, ſigned the 15th inſtant, between this Court and that of Berlin. Her Majeſty the Empreſs Queen made him a preſent of a diamond ring.

Hamburgh, Feb. 25. M. de Hecht, the Pruſſian Miniſter in this reſidence, received the 19th inſtant, an eſtafette from Leipzig, with the news, that peace was ſigned on the 15th of this month at Hubertſbourg, between the King his Maſter, the Queen of Hungary, and the King of Poland, as Elector of Saxony. M. de Hecht, having notified this important event to this Magiſtracy, was complimented yeſterday by a deputation in form, on the part of this government.

Hague, March 1. Every thing is regulating in Saxony, for the reſtoring the Electorate to its Sovereign. Both the Auſtrian and Pruſſian troops are evacuating it; and the Saxons are in march to take poſſeſſion of the country.

March 5. We hear that their High Mightineſſes will ſhortly make a military augmentation, and appropriate an annual fund for reſtoring and ſupporting the marine, that the Republic may the better preſerve the reſpect and eſteem of her neighbours.

The Court of France have three great objects under their conſideration. The firſt is an entire new regulation of their finances, by which, though the people will be greatly eaſed, the crown will receive one third more, and this without any new impoſition. The ſecond reſpects the cultivation of waſte lands; in regard to which, the experiments lately made have ſucceeded ſo well, that a plan is concerting for carrying the like ſchemes into execution, gradually in every one of the Provinces, and for encouraging people to marry and ſettle in ſmall farms at the public expence. The third is the reſtoring their marine, by a fund proceeding from a moderate, but perpetual, tax, upon all public diverſions throughout the kingdom.

Berlin, March 1. His Pruſſian Majeſty remains ſtill in Saxony. The troops have begun to evacuate Saxony; and ſome of the regiments, that compoſe the garriſons of Berlin and Potſdam, have actually entered thoſe places; but the total evacuation cannot be compleated till ſome time in April.

Ratiſbon, March 1. The Emperor having notified the peace to Prince Stolberg, with his decree thereon, the Army of the Empire will be ſeparated this week; the troops of Bavaria and Wurtemberg were to begin their march yeſterday, and the reſt will immediately follow them.

Hague, March 4. The evacuations of Saxony go on, in purſuance of the treaty of Hubertſbourg; and the King of Pruſſia has aſſembled a prodigious body of cavalry near Magdebourg, to conſume the remainder of his magazines. The French are preparing to evacuate that prince's dominions upon the Lower Rhine as ſoon as poſſible; and detachments from the ſmall Pruſſian corps in Weſtphalia are to take poſſeſſion of the fortreſſes which ſhall be reſtored, till ſuch time as the troops arrive which are to form the garriſons.

Berlin Feb. 24. His Majeſty has declared, that all thoſe parts of his dominions which were plundered by his enemies, ſhall be exempted from taxes, for a certain term. The peaſants in Pruſſian Pomerania, who were abſolute ſlaves to their lords, are declared free, and a certain quantity of corn is to be diſtributed amongſt them, for ſowing their lands, excluſive of as much as may ſerve them for a year's ſubſiſtence. Beſides all this, the horſes belonging to the artillery, to the number of 30,000, are to be diſtributed amongſt them gratis.

Hague, March 8. Their High Mightineſſes have given orders for repairing the fortifications of their frontier places, and putting them in a poſture of defence.

Ratiſbon, March 3. It is thought the Emperor will demand from the Germanic body, a reſtitution of the money which he advanced, during the war, to the Army of the Circles, amounting to three millions of florins.

Vienna, Feb. 23. Since the arrival of M. Leſerer, who brought the Court the definitive treaty of peace, ſigned the 15th inſt. at Hubertſbourg, the court have diſpatched couriers to inform the courts, in alliance with them, of the event; notifying it, at the ſame time, to all the foreign miniſters.

Berlin, March 5. The ratifications of the definitive treaties with the Empreſs Queen, and Elector of Saxony, arrived at Hubertſbourg the firſt inſtant, and were immediately exchanged. This day the proclamation of his Pruſſian Majeſty's peace with the abovementioned powers was publiſhed, with the uſual ſolemnities, in the different parts of this city; and to-morrow Te Deum will be ſung in the churches.

LONDON, March 1.

Some advices from Leipſick inform us, that the King of Pruſſia had ſaid to one of his Generals, That it was true he had made peace with the Empreſs-Queen; but that he reckoned he would ſoon be at war with ſome other power.

March. 3. It is ſaid that the King of Portugal has ſignified his intentions of purchaſing ſome prize ſhips, or contracting for the building of ſome ſhips of force here by permiſſion of our Court, and alſo of entering into a new treaty defenſive and offenſive with this kingdom; for which purpoſe an Ambaſſador Extraordinary is ſhortly expected here.

March. 5. The laſt letters from Saxony, which are of the 16th ult. ſay, that all the Pruſſian and Auſtrian troops were to evacuate Saxony in twenty-one days from the ſigning of the Treaty at Hubertſbourg.

It is ſaid the States General have unanimouſly agreed to augment their forces with 12,000 men, which is ſuppoſed to proceed from ſome demand the King of Pruſſia has made on them.

The Anna Maria, Goodland, from Virginia for London, is totally loſt on Pemberry Sands, near Carmarthen, and all the crew, except the Mate and one man, periſhed; about 20 hhds of tobacco have been taken up.

The Betty, of and from Liverpool to Virginia, is on ſhore at Crafield, within fourteen miles of Newry, and it is feared her bottom is beat out.

The ballance due to our Government from France, on account of the maintenance, &c. of the French priſoners, amounts to upwards of 1,200,000l. ſterling.

March. 8. The letter by which the King of Pruſſia's firſt Miniſter of State communicated the news of peace to the foreign Miniſters at Berlin imported, "That by this treaty his Pruſſian Majeſty recovers all that he was in poſſeſſion of before the war, particularly his county of Glatz, and his provinces in Weſtphalia, and on the Lower Rhine; that he reſtores to his Poliſh Majeſty all his eſtates in Germany; that the circles of the Empire, are comprehended in this treaty; and in ſhort, that the baſis of the preſent treaty is thoſe of Breſlau and Dreſden, in the years 1742 and 1745."

The articles of the treaty of Hubertſbourg, in which the Circles of the Empire are included, are thoſe in which it is ſtipulated, 1. That the priſoners on both ſides ſhall be exchanged without any expence. 2. that hoſtages ſhall be ſet at liberty without any ranſom. 3. That all contributions ſhall ceaſe, and no demand ſhall be made of arrears. 4. That all bills of exchange that are not yet paid, ſhall be reſtored.

The letter to the Dutch Miniſter concludes with ſaying, "That his Majeſty flatters himſelf that the news of a peace, ſo glorious to him, and ſo intereſting to Germany and mankind in general, will be received by their High Mightineſſes with ſuch ſentiments as he has a right to expect from the happy union which ſubſiſts between him and the Republick of Holland."

We hear that there will be no more than 17,000 men kept on the Britiſh eſtabliſhment, including invalids doing duty; and the ſame number as before the war on the Iriſh Eſtabliſhment; and 10,000 men in the Britiſh colonies, which are to be paid the firſt year by Great Britain, but afterwards by the colonies.

Notwithſtanding the militia regiments are all diſembodied, the number of men belonging to each regiment are to be kept up in their reſpective counties, and are to be muſtered and exerciſed at proper ſeaſons of the year; by which means they may be embodied at the ſhorteſt notice.

The French have reduced their regular forces from 150,000 to 80,000 men; by which between 4 and 5000 ſubaltern officers are reduced, and are not allowed any pay. This cauſes great murmurings, and ſhews the poverty of the Government.

The term fixed for the exchange of the ratifications of the treaty between the Courts of Vienna and Berlin is fourteen days from the 15th, the day of ſigning; and the reciprocal evacuations are to be made in twenty one days after the exchange of the ratifications.

The Princeſs Dowager of Wales hath given one hundred pounds to the collection carrying on for the colleges of Philadelphia and New York.

The report of a marriage between the Prince of Pruſſia and a Princeſs of Saxe Gotha has been lately mentioned. --- The King of Pruſſia wrote to the Prince her father a letter with his own hand, to inform him of the ſigning of the treaty of Hubertſbourg. This definitive treaty hath been on the carpet only ſince the 30th of December, about ſix weeks. His Pruſſian Majeſty has not ſeen Berlin his capital, ſince the end of the year 1756. As ſoon as the concluſion of the treaty was known at Dreſden, the price of wheat fell lower than it was before the war.

It is aſſured that the amount of the gold, ſilver, and jewels, excluſive of all merchandize, brought to England from the Eaſt Indies ſince the year 1759, is not leſs than ſix millions ſterling.

The accounts received that France has ceded her part of Louiſiana to the Crown of Spain, gain credit.

March 10. His Majeſty has been pleaſed to give 1000l. towards erecting two colleges; one at New-York, the other at Philadelphia; for carrying on of which 6000l. has already been expended.

The Spaniſh man of war, St. Janiero, of 64 guns, from the Havannah, after having got off the Sandwich Flats, ran on the White Dyke, to the Northward of Ramſgate harbour, and is ſtranded; great part of her cargo is got out.

March 12. The French agents are buying up ſeveral large ſhips, to augment their trade.

They write from Hamburgh, that thoſe who retired to that place and Altena, to avoid the troubles that raged in Germany, are preparing to return home. It is computed that they amount to near 18,000, including children and ſervants.

Extract of a letter from Altena, March 2.

"The Pruſſian regiments deſtined for the kingdom of Pruſſia, have received ſudden orders to halt at Glogau. Several regiments, which were ordered to the Marche of Brandebourg, are alſo returning to their former quarters in Saxony. Though the peace be made, ſome important event may happen."

Part of a letter from Hamburgh, March 1.

"We learn from Berlin that ſeveral Pruſſian regiments, which had left Saxony, are returned to their quarters in that electorate, and thoſe who are ſtill there are ordered to remain; but that they were ignorant of the motives of this change.

"Letters from the neighbourhood of Saxony confirm this account; and add, that they ſuſpected that the Pruſſians had received theſe orders on a report of the King of Poland's death."

One hundred and forty men of war, of different rates, are to be employed for the year 1763.

March 15. Letters from Hanover ſay, that they are aſſured there, that his Britannick Majeſty has ſettled a penſion of 2000 l. per annum on each of the Queen's two brothers, who were lately in England.

Extract of a letter from Haverfordweſt, March 5.

"The latter end of laſt week was loſt near Pemberry, in Carmarthenſhire, a large ſhip, about 300 tons burthen, from Virginia for London, loaden with tobacco. She had five men waſhed overboard at ſea, and eight were drowned when the ſhip was loſt, and only two men were ſaved."

Extract of a letter from Paris, March 1.

"The news of the peace between the Empreſs Queen and the King of Pruſſia occaſions much ſpeculation here. Nothing is publiſhed of the contents of the treaty; the Contracting Powers have their reaſons for this; ſome of the articles will not be agreeable to certain Princes. Mean while we are informed that our Court is very much concerned for the diſtreſſes of the Houſe of Saxony; and is not pleaſed with what is paſſing in Courland. Some perſons, moreover, who have the intereſt of the King of Poland much at heart, are diſpoſed to give him effectual aſſiſtance, as ſoon as the Republic of Poland comes to a reſolution to act efficaciouſly in favour of Prince Charles of Saxony; ſo that this affair may poſſibly have very ſerious conſequences."

They write from Hamburgh, that they are ſurpriſed to ſee the Daniſh officers in that city and neighbourhood enliſting men, eſpecially for the cavalry, with as much diligence as when Denmark was on the point of breaking with Ruſſia.

We learn from Francfort, that as ſoon as the peace of Hubertſbourg is ratified, a body of Auſtrians, in the ſervice of Genoa, will march to Italy, to be employed in reducing the Corſican Malcontents.

March 17. It is ſaid that the Governors of our colonies abroad will ſoon be put under ſome regulations, for the benefit of commerce, &c.

Extract of a letter from Dreſden, Feb. 22.

"The time at laſt is come when this poor unhappy electorate is to be permitted to return to the obedience of its lawful Sovereign, and is to be delivered from the calamities of a war, which, had it continued a little longer, would have ruined the inhabitants paſt recovery. Our joy can be more eaſy conceived than deſcribed.

"The Anglo-Pruſſian party ſay, that the Courts of Paris and Vienna have made peace as they made war; that England has made an advantageous, and the King of Pruſſia a glorious peace; that this Prince remains Dictator in Germany, and the ſtrongeſt Power in the Empire both in troops and money; that his country, indeed, is exhauſted and depopulated, but that he knows how to make it flouriſh at the expence of his neighbours. This Monarch is ſtill ſuſpected of meditating great deſigns; which ſuſpicion is founded on the accounts received, that he keeps on foot all his preſent forces, and diſbands not even thoſe which made a part of the Allied army, and which were lately taken into his ſervice. It is reported, that when word was brought to him, that the terms of peace which he deſired, were complied with, he ſaid, he had liſtened to an accommodation, only to give a few years reſt to his troops which were worn out with fatigue, after which he would employ them to better purpoſe, and with more advantage, than he had done in this war. Some people imagine, that whenever he unſheathes the ſword again, it will be againſt a certain Northern crowned Head: The dethronement and death of Peter III. of Ruſſia, he cannot digeſt."

The King of Pruſſia's letter to his Miniſter at Ratiſbon was in theſe words: "The negotiations of peace between her Majeſty the Empreſs Queen and me have had a favourable iſſue: I enter again into poſſeſſion of my eſtates on the ſame footing as before the war; I reſtore to the Elector of Saxony his. You will communicate this event where you are, and ſend me an account of what impreſſion it makes."

March 19. We hear that many officers of all ranks, now reduced to half pay, have formed a project for peopling effectually and immediately the important iſland of St. John, in the neighbourhood of Cape Breton, if a grant of it can be obtained upon the terms that they propoſe.

It is ſaid that the French Miniſter at Peterſburgh hath preſented a long memorial in favour of Prince Charles's pretenſions to the Dutchy of Courland, couched in terms that ſeem to indicate a reſolution to ſupport that Prince by force of arms.

Some letters from Francfort ſay, that his Pruſſian Majeſty inſtead of contributing to indemnify Saxony, hath ſtipulated for a barrier between that electorate and Brandebourg, which will bring in yearly above 100,000 rix-dollars, for which he is to give the houſe of Saxony a ſum of money once for all.

Extract of a letter from the Hague, March 4.

"As the Court of London, ever ſince the death of George II. hath always deferred the renewal of the treaties between that Crown and this State, under pretence of the multiplicity of buſineſs on account of the war, it is expected that the States of Holland, at their preſent meeting, will prepare inſtructions to be ſent to the Count de Welderen, now the war is ended, to preſs the renewal of thoſe treaties, with the addition of ſuch articles as may be judged neceſſary for preventing diſputes between the two nations, on account either of ſupplying foreign Powers with Naval ſtores in time of war, or of the trade and navigation in the Eaſt-Indies."

Five waggon loads of money, eſcorted by a party of ſoldiers, is come to the Bank, from Portſmouth, brought by the Rippon man of war, from the Havanna.

Dublin, March 5. We hear from good authority, that there will be no more than 12,000 troops on this eſtabliſhment.

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.

In the South-Carolina Gazette, of April 16, it is ſaid, that the Second of that Month was appointed for the Execution of two Spaniards, a Frenchman, and an Engliſhman, at St. Euſtatius, for pyratically landing on Guadaloupe, moſt barbarouſly cutting off the Breaſts of two Women, and carrying off 14 Negroes.---- And it is alſo ſaid, that four other ſmall Veſſels were cruiſing about the Grenades and Guadaloupe, in the ſame Manner, manned by Spaniards and Caribbee Indians, who had taken ſeveral Veſſels; among them one belonging to the Grenades, whoſe Crew they obliged to walk into the Sea, on a Plank fixed for that Purpoſe, but that one of them got aſhore by good Swimming.

We hear from Georgia, that the Spaniards at St. Auguſtine were much diſſatisfied with giving up that Place; and that it was thought two Thirds of the Inhabitants would become Britiſh Subjects, rather than leave their Properties.

To be SOLD,

THREE Lots of Land, containing from 11 to 16 Acres, moſt delightfully ſituated upon Schuylkill, near the Lower Ferry, commanding an extenſive Proſpect, as Buſh-hill, the Seat of his Honour the Governor; Springetſberry, the Seat of the Proprietary; the Corporation Ferry, &c. &c. And down Schuylkill, the Plantations of John Bartram, David Gibſon, the Kingſeſs Meadows, and the adjoining Plantation, even as far down as Carpenter's Iſland. The Ferry affords a continual Amuſement, by the conſtant paſſing and re-paſſing of the Boats, as the Paſſengers can be eaſily diſtinguiſhed by the naked Eye. The Soil is good, and ſufficient Manure at hand to bring the Land to any Degree of Richneſs. The Lots are commodiouſly planned, having their whole Extent of Front on Schuylkill (with ſufficient Stone for Building, as the Beach is Stone and Gravel) The Back Part of the Lots are good Woodland, and each Lot hath the Conveniency of an excellent Spring on it. There is a convenient Dwelling-houſe on the largeſt Lot, and the whole is fenced with Poſt and Rails. In the different Seaſons there is Plenty of Fiſhing and Fowling. For farther Particulars, enquire of Mr. Michael Hillegas, in Second-ſtreet; or of Henry Elves, in Paſſyunk; who hath good well cured firſt Crop Hay, at Three Pounds per Ton, and good Paſturage for Creatures.

Britain, conformably to the rules eſtabliſhed among all nations; ſo that the validity of the ſaid prizes, between the Britiſh and Spaniſh nations, ſhall be decided and judged according to the law of nations, and according to treaties in the courts of juſtice of the nation who ſhall have made the capture.

ART. XVII. His Britannick Majeſty ſhall cauſe to be demoliſhed all the fortifications which his ſubjects ſhall have erected in the bay of Honduras, and other places of the territory of Spain, in that part of the world, four months after the ratification of the preſent treaty; and his Catholick Majeſty ſhall not permit his Britannick Majeſty's ſubjects, or their workmen, to be diſturbed, or moleſted, under any pretence whatſoever, in the ſaid places, in their occupation of cutting, loading, and carrying away logwood; and for this purpoſe they may build without hindrance, and occupy without interruption, the houſes and magazines which are neceſſary for them, for their families, and for their effects; and his Catholic Majeſty aſſures to them, by this article, the full enjoyment of thoſe advantages, and powers, on the Spaniſh coaſts and territories, as above ſtipulated, immediately after the ratification of the preſent treaty.

ART. XVIII. His Catholick Majeſty deſiſts, as well for himſelf, as for his ſucceſſors, from all pretenſions, which he may have formed, in favour of the Guipuſcoans, and other his ſubjects, to the right of fiſhing in the neighbourhood of the Iſland of Newfoundland.

ART. XIX. The King of Great-Britain ſhall reſtore to Spain all the territory which he has conquered in the iſland of Cuba, with the fortreſs of the Havannah; and this fortreſs, as well as all the other fortreſſes of the ſaid iſland, ſhall be reſtored in the ſame condition they were in when conquered by his Britannick Majeſty's arms; provided, that his Britannick Majeſty's ſubjects, who ſhall have ſettled in the ſaid iſland, reſtored to Spain by the preſent treaty, or thoſe who ſhall have any commercial affairs to ſettle there, ſhall have liberty to ſell their lands, and their eſtates, to ſettle their affairs, to recover their debts, and to bring away their effects, as well as their perſons, on board veſſels which they ſhall be permitted to ſend to the ſaid iſland, reſtored as above, and which ſhall ſerve for that uſe only, without being reſtrained on account of their religion, or under any pretence whatſoever, except that of debts, or of criminal proſecutions; and for this purpoſe the term of eighteen months is allowed to his Britannick Majeſty's ſubjects, to be computed from the day of the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty: But as the liberty granted to his Britannick Majeſty's ſubjects, to bring away their perſons, and their effects, in veſſels of their nation, may be liable to abuſes, if precautions were not taken to prevent them; it has been expreſly agreed between his Britannick Majeſty, and his Catholick Majeſty, that the number of Engliſh veſſels which ſhall have leave to go to the ſaid iſland, reſtored to Spain, ſhall be limited, as well as the number of tons of each one; that they ſhall go in ballaſt; ſhall ſet ſail at a fixed time; and ſhall make one voyage only; all the effects belonging to the Engliſh being to be embarked at the ſame time: It has been further agreed, that his Catholick Majeſty ſhall cauſe the neceſſary paſſports to be given to the ſaid veſſels; that, for the greater ſecurity, it ſhall be allowed to place two Spaniſh Clerks, or Guards, in each of the ſaid veſſels, which ſhall be viſited in the landing-places and ports of the ſaid iſland, reſtored to Spain, and that the merchandize which ſhall be found therein, ſhall be confiſcated.

ART. XX. In conſequence of the reſtitution ſtipulated in the preceding article, his Catholick Majeſty cedes and guaranties, in full right, to his Britannick Majeſty, Florida, with Fort St. Auguſtine, and the Bay of Penſacola, as well as all that Spain poſſeſſes on the Continent of North-America, to the eaſt, or to the ſouth-eaſt, of the river Miſſiſippi. And, in general, every thing that depends on the ſaid Countries and lands, with the ſovereignty, property, poſſeſſion, and all rights, acquired by treaties, or otherwiſe, which the Catholick King, and the Crown of Spain, have had till now, over the ſaid countries, lands, places, and other inhabitants; ſo that the Catholick King cedes and makes over the whole to the ſaid King, and to the crown of Great-Britain, and that in the moſt ample manner and form. His Britannick Majeſty agrees, on his ſide, to grant, to the inhabitants of the countries above ceded, the liberty of the Catholick religion: He will conſequently give the moſt expreſs, and the moſt effectual orders, that his new Roman Catholick ſubjects may profeſs the worſhip of their religion according to the rites of the Romiſh church, as far as the laws of Great-Britain permit. His Britannick Majeſty further agrees, that the Spaniſh inhabitants, or others, who had been ſubjects of the Catholick King in the ſaid countries, may retire, with all ſafety and freedom, wherever they think proper; and may ſell their eſtates, provided it be to his Britannick Majeſty's ſubjects, and bring away their effects, as well as their perſons, without being reſtrained in their emigration, under any pretence whatſoever, except that of debts, or of criminal proſecutions; the term, limited for this emigration, being fixed to the ſpace of eighteen months, to be computed from the day of the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty. It is moreover ſtipulated, that his Catholick Majeſty ſhall have power to cauſe all the effects, that may belong to him, to be brought away, whether it be artillery, or other things.

ART. XXI. The French and Spaniſh troops ſhall evacuate all the territories, lands, towns, places, and caſtles, of his moſt Faithful Majeſty, in Europe, without any reſerve, which ſhall have been conquered by the arms of France and Spain, and ſhall reſtore them in the ſame condition they were in when conquered, with the ſame artillery, and ammunition, which were found there: And with regard to the Portugueſe colonies in America, Africa, or in the Eaſt-Indies, if any change ſhall have happened there, all things ſhall be reſtored on the ſame footing they were in, and conformably to the preceding treaties, which ſubſiſted between the courts of France, Spain, and Portugal, before the preſent war.

ART. XXII. All the papers, letters, documents, and archieves, which were found in the countries, territories, towns, and places, that are reſtored, and thoſe belonging to the countries ceded, ſhall be reſpectively, and bonâ fide, delivered, or furniſhed at the ſame time, if poſſible, that poſſeſſion is taken, or, at lateſt, four months after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty, in whatever places the ſaid papers or documents may be found.

ART. XXIII. All the countries and territories, which may have been conquered, in whatſoever part of the world, by the arms of their Britannick and moſt Faithful Majeſties, as well as by thoſe of their moſt Chriſtian and Catholick Majeſties, which are not included in the preſent treaty, either under the title of ceſſions, or under the title of reſtitutions, ſhall be reſtored without difficulty, and without requiring any compenſation.

ART. XXIV. As it is neceſſary to aſſign a fixed epoch for the reſtitutions, and the evacuations, to be made by each of the high contracting parties; it is agreed, that the Britiſh and French troops ſhall compleat, before the 15th of March next, all that ſhall remain to be executed of the XIIth and XIIIth articles of the preliminaries, ſigned the 3d day of November laſt, with regard to the evacuation to be made in the Empire, or elſewhere. The Iſland of Belleiſle ſhall be evacuated ſix weeks after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty, or ſooner, if it can be done. Guadaloupe, Deſirade, Marie Galante, Martinico, and St. Lucia, three months after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty, or ſooner, if it can be done. Great-Britain ſhall likewiſe, at the end of three months after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty, or ſooner, if it can be done, enter into poſſeſſion of the river and port of the Mobile, and of all that is to form the limits of the territory of Great-Britain, on the ſide of the river Miſſiſippi, as they are ſpecified in the VIIth article. The iſland of Goree ſhall be evacuated by Great-Britain, three months after the ratifications of the preſent treaty; and the iſland of Minorca by France, at the ſame epoch, or ſooner, if it can be done; and according to the VIth article, France ſhall likewiſe enter into poſſeſſion of the iſlands of St. Peter, and of Miquelon, at the end of three months after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty. The factories in the Eaſt-Indies ſhall be reſtored ſix months after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty, or ſooner, if it can be done. The fortreſs of the Havanna, with all that has been conquered in the iſland of Cuba, ſhall be reſtored three months after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty, or ſooner, if it can be done; and at the ſame time, Great-Britain ſhall enter into poſſeſſion of the country ceded by Spain, according to the XXth article. All the places and countries of his moſt Faithful Majeſty, in Europe, ſhall be reſtored immediately after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty; and the Portugueſe colonies, which may have been conquered, ſhall be reſtored in three months in the Weſt-Indies, and in ſix months in the Eaſt-Indies, after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty, or ſooner, if it can be done. All the fortreſſes, the reſtitution whereof is ſtipulated above, ſhall be reſtored, with the artillery and ammunition, which were found there at the time of the conqueſt. In conſequence whereof, the neceſſary orders ſhall be ſent by each of the high contracting parties, with reciprocal paſſports for the ſhips that ſhall carry them, immediately after the exchange of the ratifications of the preſent treaty.

ART. XXV. His Britannick Majeſty, as Elector of Brunſwick Lunenbourg, as well for himſelf, as for his heirs and ſucceſſors, and all the dominions and poſſeſſions of his ſaid Majeſty in Germany, are included and guarantied by the preſent treaty of peace.

ART. XXVI. Their Sacred Britannick, moſt Chriſtian, Catholick, and moſt Faithful Majeſties, promiſe to obſerve, ſincerely and bonâ fide, all the articles contained and ſettled in the preſent treaty; and they will not ſuffer the ſame to be infringed, directly or indirectly, by their reſpective ſubjects; and the ſaid high contracting parties, generally and reciprocally, guaranty to each other all the ſtipulations of the preſent treaty.

ART. XXVII. The ſolemn ratifications of the preſent treaty, expedited in good and due form, ſhall be exchanged in this city of Paris, between the high contracting parties, in the ſpace of a month, or ſooner, if poſſible, to be computed from the day of the ſignature of the preſent treaty.

In witneſs whereof, We the under-written, their Ambaſſadors Extraordinary and Miniſters Plenipotentiary, have ſigned with our hand, in their name, and in virtue of our full powers, the preſent Definitive Treaty, and have cauſed the ſeal of our arms to be put thereto.

Done at Paris the tenth of February, 1763.

SEPARATE ARTICLES.

I. SOME of the titles made uſe of by the contracting powers, either in the full powers, and other acts, during the courſe of the negotiation, or in the preamble of the preſent treaty, not being generally acknowledged; it has been agreed, that no prejudice ſhall ever reſult therefrom to any of the ſaid contracting parties, and that the titles, taken or omitted, on either ſide, on occaſion of the ſaid negotiation, and of the preſent treaty, ſhall not be cited, or quoted as a precedent.

II. It has been agreed and determined, that the French language, made uſe of in all the copies of the preſent treaty, ſhall not become an example, which may be alledged, or make a precedent of, or prejudice, in any manner, any of the contracting Powers; and that they ſhall conform themſelves, for the future, to what has been obſerved, and ought to be obſerved, with regard to, and on the part of, Powers who are uſed, and have a right, to give and receive copies of like treaties in another language than French; the preſent treaty having ſtill the ſame force and effect, as if the aforeſaid cuſtom had been therein obſerved.

III. Though the King of Portugal has not ſigned the preſent Definitive Treaty, their Britannick, Moſt Chriſtian, and Catholick Majeſties, acknowledge, nevertheleſs, that his Moſt Faithful Majeſty is formally included therein as a contracting party, and as if he had expreſly ſigned the ſaid treaty: Conſequently, their Britannick, Moſt Chriſtian, and Catholick Majeſties, reſpectively and conjointly, promiſe to his Moſt Faithful Majeſty, in the moſt expreſs and moſt binding manner, the execution of all and every the clauſes, contained in the ſaid treaty, on his act of acceſſion.

The preſent ſeparate articles ſhall have the ſame force as if they were inſerted in the treaty.

Declaration of his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty's Plenipotentiary, with Regard to the debts due to the Canadians.

THE King of Great Britain having deſired, that the payment of the letters of exchange and bills, which had been delivered to the Canadians for the neceſſaries furniſhed to the French troops, ſhould be ſecured, His Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, entirely diſpoſed to render to every one that juſtice which is legally due to them, has declared, and does declare, That the ſaid bills, and letters of exchange, ſhall be punctually paid, agreeably to a liquidation made in a convenient time, according to the diſtance of the places, and to what ſhall be poſſible; taking care, however, that the bills, and letters of exchange, which the French ſubjects may have at the time of this Declaration, be not confounded with the bills and letters of exchange, which are in the poſſeſſion of the new ſubjects of the King of Great Britain.

In witneſs whereof, we the under-written Miniſter of his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, duly authorized for this purpoſe, have ſigned the preſent Declaration, and cauſed the Seal of our arms to be put thereto.

Declaration of His Britannick Majeſty's Ambaſſador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, with regard to the limits of Bengal, in the Eaſt-Indies.

WE the under written Ambaſſador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the King of Great-Britain, in order to prevent all ſubject of diſpute, on account of the limits of the dominions of the Subah of Bengal, as well as of the coaſt of Coromandel and Orixa, declare, in the name, and by order of his ſaid Britannick Majeſty, that the ſaid dominions of the Subah of Bengal ſhall be reputed not to extend farther than Yanaon excluſively, and that Yanaon ſhall be conſidered as included in the North part of the coaſt of Coromandel or Orixa.

Philadelphia, May 3, 1763.

PURSUANT to an Advertiſement, publiſhed in the Pennſylvania Gazette, for March and April 1763, the Members of the Philadelphia Contributionſhip, met at the Court Houſe, in this City, and, after having choſe their Chairman, proceeded to the Conſideration of the Queſtions therein inſerted, which were,

Firſt, Whether it will not be as beneficial to the Members, that the Intereſt Money ariſing from the Stock, ſhould be carried to one common Account, and be applied as directed by the 21ſt Article of the Deed of Settlement, "in diſcharging the Expences of the Office;"---the Surplus or Remainder may be paid towards ſatisfying any Loſs that ſhall happen by Fire; as to be at the extraordinary Trouble and Expence in calculating each Contributor's Proportion of Intereſt, and crediting him therewith, and debiting his Account with his Proportion of all the Expences of ſaid Office, and his Contribution, towards every Fire?

Second, That no Part of the Depoſite-money ſhall be expended in repairing, or paying for, any Damage done by Fire, until the Ballance of the Intereſt-money, as ſhall accrue to the Time of ſuch Fire, be firſt expended.

Which Queſtions, being duly conſidered by the ſaid general Meeting, they unanimouſly agreed, that the Intereſt-money ariſing to the Office, ſhould be carried to one common Account of Intereſt, and not to the particular Credit of any of the Members; and, that the Charges and Loſſes of the Office ſhould be deducted out of ſaid Intereſt-money, before the Depoſite, or Premium-money ſhould be ſubject to a Contribution for any Fire.

The Contributors to this Inſtitution, are therefore requeſted to take Notice, that from, and after the 11th Day of April 1763, their particular Accounts are not to have Credit for the Intereſt ariſing on their Depoſite-money; but that it is to remain in the Treaſury, and be applied towards diſcharging the Expence of the Office;---and the Surpluſage, towards paying for ſuch Loſſes as may happen by Fire.

By Order of the Directors,
ROBERT OWEN, Clerk.

ALL Perſons who ſhall buy any of the STURGEON cured by Edward Broadfield, are deſired to obſerve the following Directions, at firſt opening the Kegs, viz. To take out the Cork, draw off the Pickle into ſome clean and dry Bowl or Pan, then put in the Cork tight, and ſtrip the Hoops of that Head that is numbered, and take it out; then harden on the Hoops, and pour the Pickle on the Fiſh, putting a coarſe Cloth over the Head of the Caſk, and the Head upon that, with a ſmall Weight thereon, to keep the Air out, and you may preſerve it the Year round. If the Pickle ſhould fall below the Fiſh, add as much neat Vinegar to it, ſo as to keep it under Pickle, taking it out for Uſe with a Fork, inſtead of your Hand, as too many People are apt, through Haſte, often to do. The ſaid Fiſh are to be ſold by Thomas Mullan, at the One Ton, in Water-ſtreet, Philadelphia; and by Jacob Kemper, near Coentie's Market, New-York, and by no other Perſons. The.

HAGUE, February 23.

THIS Evening General Yorke gives a Ball, on Occasion of the signing of the Definitive Treaty between England and France.

Paris, Feb. 21. OurParliament, as well as all the others, continues to pour out its Vengeance on the Jesuits. After selling by Auction their Moveables, they are proceeding to the Sale of their real Estates. Those who were in Office under the General of the Society, are not much to be pitied, because they foresaw the Storm, and prepared for it: The greatest Sufferers are those who least deserve to suffer, having had no Share in the Direction of the Society's Affairs. Some of these are now obliged to ask Alms of their Landlords, being in Want of all Necessaries; but in the midst of their Distress, they discover a Patience and Resignation truly admirable.

Moscow, Feb. 3. N. S. Her Imperial Majesty honoured the English Ambassador with her Presence at his House on the 31st of last Month. The Company was in Masque, and consisted of about 150 Persons.

Vienna, Feb. 19. Though the Return of Peace gives us some Satisfaction, it arises solely from that Humanity which inclines us to wish an End of those Calamities which have lasted but too long; for it is well known that the Treaty of Peace doth not add an Inch of Ground to the Dominions of the Empress Queen, nor make any Reparation to the Princes that have most suffered by the War; so that the Blood that has been spilled these six Years has been shed in vain.

Ratisbon, Feb. 21. The five following Articles have just been received here, and are said to contain the principal Points of the Treaty concluded between the Courts of Vienna, Berlin, and Dresden.

1st. All Hostilities which have hitherto been committed by either Party, and the Damages which ensued from them, shall be reciprocally forgotten and forgiven. 2d. All Hostilities shall cease from the Day on which the Treaty is signed; and all Effects, which shall be taken after that Time, shall be restored. 3d. Within three Weeks after the Exchange of the Ratifications, the two high contracting Powers shall withdraw all the Troops from the Countries which do not belong to them. 4. From the Day of signing the Treaty, all Contributions, of what Kind soever, shall cease, as likewise all Demands of Recruits, Waggons, Horses, &c. The two contracting Powers also renounce all Arrears of Contributions, and likewise all Bills of Exchange, that shall then remain undischarged, and which are to be returned. All Hostages shall be immediately given up, on both Sides, without requiring any Ransom. 5. All Prisoners of War shall likewise be released, without Regard either to their Rank or Number, but on Condition that they previously discharge what Debts they may have contracted during their Detention. What may have been paid for the Subsistence of the Prisoners, and also for the Cure of the Sick and Wounded, shall be reciprocally renounced. Commissaries shall be appointed immediately for exchanging all the Prisoners of War; which shall be proceeded on within 15 Days after the signing of the Treaty.

The Empire in general, and all its Princes and States in particular, are comprehended in these five Articles.

Algiers, Feb. 3. On the 13th of last Month, the Christian Slaves, to the Number of 4000, rose, and killed their Guards, and massacred all who came in their Way. All the Houses and the Gates of the Town were shut; a general Massacre was apprehended, but after some Hours Carnage, during which the Streets ran with Blood, Quiet was restored.

Hague, March 1. They write from Ratisbon, that the King of Prussia hath put under Arrest the Jews who hath contracted for coining Money in Saxony, and hath ordered them to pay him in Gold 12 Millions of Pieces, of five Crowns each, as a reasonable Deduction from the Profits of their Contract.

The States of the Empire, partly through Dilatoriness, and partly from their Attachment to the House Austria, have been fleeced of above a Million Sterling, since the Battle by which Prince Henry gloriously terminated the last Campaign.

The French returned the Keys of Francfort to the Magistrates on the 24th.

Ratisbon, March 3. The Emperor has been pleased to acquaint the Diet, "That he most heartily wishes that the Peace lately concluded may last to Perpetuity, towards which, he on his Part, shall apply his utmost Endeavours, in Hopes that the several States of the Empire will use theirs, jointly with him for the same happy Purpose, strictly adhering to the Laws and Constitution of the Empire. At the same Time, commanding the general Officers of the Imperial Army, to return his Imperial Majesty's Thanks for the Services they have done, and to discharge them, that they may return Home."

Warsaw, Feb. 17. The Polish Troops which occupy the different Posts in the Ukraine are ordered to be in Readiness, because, according to some Advices, the Tartars are preparing to invade that Province again.

Hague, March 11. The last Letters from Polish Prussia, of the 2d Inst. advise, that Messengers are continually passing and repassing between the Courts of Russia and Prussia; and that it was said, that a grand Alliance was actually on the Carpet between the Northern Powers.

They write from Emmerick, on the Lower Rhine, of the 8th Inst. that Sunday last, the 13th Inst. was ordered, by his Prussian Majesty, to be observed as a Day of Thanksgiving for the Restoration of Peace; and the Ministers of all the Churches were commanded to take their Texts from Psal. xlvii. 2. 3. 4. and 5.

LONDON, March 1.

We hear there is a Proposal for raising Two Hundred Thousand Pounds per Annum, by a new Tax, which will be approved of by all.

Advices from Dantzig, of the 11th ult. inform us, that the greatest Part of the Russian Troops which quitted Prussian Brandenburg, have taken the Route of Courland; and by a Letter from Mischislaw, we learn that all that Palatinate is under Arms, no less than 5000 Russians being actually in full march towards it, in order to revenge the Overthrow lately given them by the Poles.

We hear that the Stations of several Regiments are fixed as follows.

March 3. This Day the Seamen belonging to the Active Frigate, who have brought her into the River, received their Dividend of 450 l. each at the Bank.

The Report of Mr. Green's being appointed Lieut. Governor of Nova Scotia, is not true.

The last Advices from Francfort say, that it is impossible to express the Alacrity, with which the Peasants all over Germany return to their Labours; and that several Ecclesiastical Communities have made very large Contributions, in order to supply those industrious People with Necessaries, that they may not be impeded in their Work.

Letters from Dunkirk advise, that all the Inhabitants who live near the Works, have Orders to remove out of their Houses before the 25th Inst. that being the Day appointed for beginning to demolish the Long Galleries or Mole, which turns from the Town, with the Forts thereon.

We hear a Resolution is taken for a thorough Inspection to be made how the large Supplies granted for carrying on the late War, have been disposed of.

It is thought that some new Regulations will be made by Parliament, relative to the Distribution of the Havannah Prize Money.

March 5. The King of Portugal has made a present to Gen. Townshend of a Diamond Ring, a Pair of Diamond Buckles, and a Gold-Snuff-box, the whole worth 3000 l.

His Most Faithful Majesty has made considerable Pesents to all the other Officers of Distinction belonging to the British Troops employed there.

Yesterday in the Forenoon a Company of the Grenadiers belonging to the Guards, and a Company of Hatmen arrived in Town. The Men looked very well, and had each of them a green Bough stuck in his Hat or Cap, to represent the Olive Branch of Peace. Some more Companies are landed a little below Yarmouth, which are expected in a Day or two.

The King of Prussia, upon withdrawing his Troops from Saxony, gave Orders that 30 of the best Men of each Regiment should bring Home with them Saxon Wives, in Compliment to the personal Charms of these Women, and as some Reward to the gallant Soldiers.

Yesterday there was the fullest House of Commons that has been since the Commencement of the Session. His Royal Highness the Duke of York was present to hear the Debates; the Right Hon. William Pitt, Esq; attended the Service of the House on the Occasion.

The States of Italy, taught by Experience, the surest Guide in Matters relative to Trade, expressed the highest Satisfaction on the Island of Minorca's being restored to Great Britain, as they were extremely sensible of the Detriment that arose to them from its being in the Hands of the French, who from thence threw in immense Quantities of their own Manufactures, without taking any of the Italian Commodities in Exchange.

March 8. The Subaltern Officers of the French Army, who have been disbanded without any Pay, are ordered to repair to their respective Homes, and wait his Majesty's Pleasure. Were they to continue in Paris, their Number would make the Injustice of the Government towards them too apparent: Even in France the Ministry find it necessary to respect the People.

March 9. In Consequence of the Principles of Oeconomy that now take Place in the Affairs of the Public, the Nation is not to be burthened, we hear, with new Governments in the ceded and conquered Countries; our new Subjects are to be kept in Obedience by Garrisons in the Fortifications already built, and such as may be constructed, governed by Fort Majors, who are to obey the Commander in Chief at New-York.

March 10. It is said an additional Duty will be laid on foreign Wines and Cyder, for the Payment of the Interest of the new Loan.

Yesterday a Person, who can neither walk nor stand, was married at St. George's Church, Hanover-Square, to a young Gentlewoman about twenty Years of Age.

The additional Duty to be laid on Wines, it is said, will be 81. per Ton on all French Wines imported, and 41. per Ton on all other Wines without Distinction, that are imported into this Kingdom; the Product of which is to establish a Fund for the Payment of the Interest of the Three Millions Five Hundred Thousand Pounds to be raised for the Service of the present Year.

March 12. We hear that the Tickets of the first Lottery will be out next Month; but the Tickets of the second not till after the Drawing of the first is over. The Drawing of the first Lottery will begin at Guildhall on Monday the 30th of May; and the second, on Monday the 28th of November.

By a Person lately come from Scotland, we hear, that in the Parish of Dalkeith, within four Miles of Edinburgh, there lives a Man who is 132 Years of Age; and is so hearty and well as to be able to do the Business that he has followed for upwards of 80 Years, which is, supplying the Inhabitants with Coals from the Pit, by two Jack Asses he keeps for that Purpose. He was always remarkably temperate, and was never ten Miles from the Place where he was born.

They write from Berlin, that the King had formed a Plan of Pacification, which had it been adopted, would have given permanent Stability to the Peace and Happiness of Europe: The Dominions of the House of Austria would have been more conveniently situated, more contiguous to each other, and consequently more advantageous to the Possessor. The House of Saxony would have had all its Debts paid, and been in Possession of a fine Kingdom, not Elective, but Hereditary.

Translation of a Letter wrote by Prince Ferdinand to General Sporcken, resigning to him the Command of the Allied Army in Germany.

SIR,

'HAVING had the Honour, on my Arrival at Neuhaus, 'to write to the King, to congratulate Him on the Peace 'He had made with France and Spain, and at the same Time to 'ask His Permission to quit His Army, where my Presence is no 'longer necessary; His Majesty was graciously pleased to give me 'a very favourable Answer, in the following Letter; which I 'send you, General, to be communicated to the Army.

COUSIN,

'I thank you for the obliging Congratulations in your Letter 'of the 23d past, on the happy Conclusion of the Peace, to which 'your good Conduct, at the Head of My Army, hath so greatly 'contributed. I readily consent to your Demand, and am very 'glad that after so much Fatigue you will enjoy, in the Bosom of 'Peace, that Glory which you have so justly acquired. Being, 'moreover, convinced how much I owe to your great Merit, 'you may be assured of my persevering in these Sentiments, being, 'with much Esteem and Devotion, Cousin, your devoted Cousin,

St. James's, Dec. 3, 1762. GEORGE R.

'In Consequence of this Permission, which His Majesty has 'graciously given me, I resign to General Sporcken the Com'mand of the Army, which I shall leave To-morrow, the 24th 'of December. I am the better satisfied, as His Majesty has 'condescended to repeat to me His Approbation of my Conduct: 'And I have the most grateful Sense of the Favours with which 'you honoured me, during the Time that I commanded the Ar'my. I shall never forget with how great and happy Success I 'fought at the Head of the brave Troops that composed the Ar'my, for Liberty, and for their Country, and mine. This I 'shall always remember, and it will make me to think continu'ally on the Obligations I owe to the Generals and Officers in 'particular, who, by assisting me with their Experience and their 'good Advice, enabled me to serve my Country, and to discharge, 'at the same Time, the Trust with which I was honoured by the 'King. I therefore desire, General, that you will return them 'my sincere Thanks; and that you will also thank, in my Name, 'the whole Army, for the Obedience they paid to me, whilst I 'had the Honour to command them.

March 15. The King of Prussia has appointed Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick to be Governor of Silesia; the Duke of Bevern, Governor of Prussia; and the Prince of Wirtemberg, Governor of Pomerania.

If our late Profusion in the warring Strain had been continued, we should have drained the last Remains of our National Wealth. We have long gone on, from Year to Year, raising Taxes, and contracting Debts; and unless the Riches of our Country were absolutely unlimited, they must have been reduced to nothing in a few Years.

Our Expences are not all equally destructive; for some, though the Method of raising them is vexatious and oppressive, do not much impoverish the Nation, because they are refunded by the Extravagance and Luxury of those who have been retained in the Pay of the Court: But foreign Wars threaten immediate Destruction, since the Money that is spent in distant Countries can never fall back into its former Channels, but is dissipated on the Continent, and irrecoverably lost.

The City of Exeter on Tuesday last ordered that Sir George Pocock, Admiral of the Blue, should be requested to accept of the Freedom of that City, as a Testimony of its grateful Sense of the great Glory and Advantage derived to this Nation, from his important Services and Successes, both in the East-Indies and at the Havannah.

Orders are issued for the British Troops to evacuate the Havannah as soon as possible.

March 17. A private letter from Amsterdam, dated March 11, says, "As it has been generally thought that during the War, the Court of Versailles promised the Dutch Merchants a free Trade to the French Colonies for some Years after the Conclusion of Peace, we talk of a new Treaty of Commerce between the Republic and France. It is rumoured that the States of Holland have already come to a Resolution on this Head, and that M. Boreel is soliciting to be sent Ambassador Extraordinary to France, to sound the Inclination of that Court, and negotiate this Treaty."

By Letters from Cadiz we have the following Advices.

"The continual heavy Rains daily increase our Uneasiness about the next Harvest in Andalusia; all the Fields of that Province are overflowed, and many Persons and much cattle have been drowned. This Inundation having deprived the Inhabitants of their Employment in cultivating the Ground, many have left their Houses, and come to this Place and to Seville for Relief. The Rains also undermined two or three Houses in Gibraltar, which have tumbled down, and the Torrents that came from the Hill have overflowed some Magazines in that Fortress."

The Definitive Treaty of Peace is now ratified by all the belligerant Powers; and now let us hope to find, that Public Spirit, the glorious Principle of all that is great and good, is not so far from being cherished and encouraged, as to become ridiculous in this enlightened Age; but it would be a very useful Policy, and warranted by the Example of the wisest Governments, to make the natural Love of Fame and Reputation subservient in promoting that noble Principle.

Triumphal Arches, Columns, Statues, Inscriptions, and the like Monuments of public Services, have in former Times been found Incentives to Virtue and Magnanimity, and would probably have the same Effect on Britons which they had on Greeks and Romans.

And perhaps a Pillar of Infamy would be found a proper and exemplary Punishment in Cases of signal public Villainies, where the Loss of Fortune, Liberty, or Life, are not proportioned to the Crime; or where the Skill of the Offender, or the Nature of his Offence, may screen him from the Letter of the Law.

March 19. Letters from all parts of Ireland mention the great Forwardness of the Spring, and that they hardly ever had a Prospect of so plentiful a Season as the ensuing is like to be; owing to the Mildness of the Season. They have had but trifling Frosts; during the late hard Frost in England, they had not the least.

It is said that Peace will be proclaimed on Thursday in Easter Week.

As the Departure of his Majesty, to visit his German Dominions, seems fixed for May next, it is expected that Orders will be dispatched soon, to get the several Yachts in Readiness.

Several Polish Lords having lately come incognito, to Hamburgh, and having had private Conferences with some foreign Ministers there, occasions a great Variety of Speculations, more especially, as the advanced Years and great Infirmities of his Polish Majesty raise an Apprehension, that the Vacancy of that Throne can be at no great Distance.

The States General of the United Provinces seem to act at present with great Steadiness, and propose making such Regulations, in respect to their foreign and domestic Affairs, as to them seem most conducive to restore that Republic to its antient Splendour.

A Regulation is under Consideration for the more effectual Prevention of Smuggling in general.

We hear that the elegant Sett of China which her Majesty ordered to be made at Chelsea, and which is intended as a Present to her Sister, cost 1150 l.

We hear that the Office of Captain General and Commander in Chief of the King's Land-forces in South Britain hath been discontinued ever since Christmas. The late King was his own Captain General and Commander in Chief, during the first fourteen or fifteen Years of his Reign.

We hear likewise, that the Number of Officers on the Staff in England is considerably lessened.

BRIDGE-TOWN, BARBADOS, March 24.

On Wednesday the 16th Inst. his Majesty's Sloop Ferret, Peter Clarke, Esq; Commander, arrived here with a very large Prize, about 600 Tons Burthen, mounting 24 Guns, 20 of which proved to be Iron ones, of 9 and 6 Pounders, which he took out of a Bay at the West End of Porto-Rico, on the 11th of February. She was bound from the Carraccas to Cadiz, but put in there, where she thought she would be secure within a Reef of Rocks and Sands until the Cessation of Arms.---Captain Clarke, however, was not so easily to be baffled by the Difficulty of the Navigation; for after three Days Perseverance, beating to and fro in Sight of the Enemy, sounding to find out a Channel, he at length got within the Reef, anchored along Side, and after an Engagement of above two Hours, the Dons betook themselves to their Boats, and fled to the Shore, leaving some of their killed and wounded on their Deck. She is thought to be the richest Prize taken in these Seas during the War.

March 31. Richard Wilshire, Esq; who arrived here on Monday Evening, from St. Vincent's, brought Advice, That Mr. Neiles Anderson, a Planter on the River Berbicia, who made his Escape with 126 Slaves from thence the 17th inst. arrived in the River Demarara the 20th, and gave the following Account.

That the Creole Negroes, at the Head of others, to the Number of 3000, on the 2d inst. took and destroyed 10 Plantations at Connoy; that on the 8th the Governor blew up the Fort, destroyed the Ammunition, and retired, with what Whites had escaped the Negroes, on board two Dutch Ships which lay at the Mouth of the River. That he knew of between 40 and 50 Whites the Negroes had put to Death; and was told all that fell into their Hands shared the same Fate, even the Indians and Blacks that would not join them. That they declared, as soon as they had done their Business there, they would proceed to Demarara and Essequebo; and that they had long enough a white Governor, and would be no longer Slaves.

April 14. We are informed, that on Tuesday last, vice-admiral RODNEY, commander in chief of his majesty's ships, &c. in these seas, caused his thanks to be publicly given on board his majesty's sloop Ferret, to the captain, officers, and ship's company, for their gallant and spirited behaviour, in attacking and taking a Spanish register ship (lately brought in here) of much superior force, in one of the enemy's harbours on the coast of Porto-Rico.

BOSTON, May 9.

Thursday last Capt. Foster arrived at Salem, in 26 Days from Statia; and by a Passenger that since came to Town we learn, That on the 5th of April, three of the Pyrates lately mentioned to be carried into the West-Indies, were hanged, viz. the Master, Mate, and another; and the Owner branded.---The Pyrate was a Sloop, having only Small Arms; they confessed that the Method they used to destroy the People they took, was to blindfold them, and order them overboard. 'Tis said two others are hovering about Martinico, and that two armed Brigs from Statia are in Pursuit of them.

Extract of a Letter from New-York.

"The French do not at all relish the Loss of Canada, whatever their Pretensions are to the contrary, if we may judge from their Actions, an Instance of which I shall give you, viz.---That very Evening the Express arrived at London from Paris, with the Account of the Preliminary Articles of Peace being signed, there was to have been a grand Ball, consisting of the principal French Gentlemen and Ladies in the City, with the English; but on hearing the French King had ceded to us all Canada, not one Frenchman or Lady appeared; notwithstanding, the English Gentlemen and Ladies had the greatest Pleasure, and opened the Ball, with the Tune of, CANADA IS ALL OUR'S, &c."

NEW-YORK, May 16.

Since our last his Majesty's Ship the Intrepid, Capt. Hale, of 64 Guns, sailed from hence for England, and the Grace, Capt. Chambers, sailed for Bristol on Friday last.

The Halifax Packet, Capt. Boulderson, sails for Falmouth this Day, with the Mail.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.

Captain Miller, in his Passage from Jamaica, saw a Brig ashore on Cuba, about four Leagues to Leeward of the Bay of Hundy.

ARRIVALS from this PORT.

EXTRACT from the DIALOGUE on PEACE, pronounced at the late public Commencement in the COLLEGE of this City.

NOT with more Pleaſure o'er the fragrant Lawn
Sports the fleet Hare, or bounds th'exulting Fawn,
When to black Storms ſucceeds the ſolar Ray,
And gilds each Beauty of the ſmiling Day,
Than my Heart gladdens at the Dawn of PEACE,
As Wrath ſubſides, and War's loud Tumults ceaſe.
GEORGE gave the Word----and bade Mankind repoſe;
Contending Monarchs bluſh'd that they were Foes:
Old Warriors now with Rage ſhall glow no more,
But reap the Fields their Valour won before.
AUSPICIOUS Theme! for which ſhall be diſplay'd
The richeſt Chaplets of th'Aonian Shade.
How bright the Scene! unſullied Days ariſe,
And golden Proſpects ruſh before my Eyes!
Hail ſmiling Goddeſs! in whoſe placid Mein
Celeſtial Bliſs with ev'ry Grace is ſeen;
O'er thy ſmooth Brow no rugged Helmet frowns,
An Olive-Wreath thy ſhining Temple crowns.
Far ſhalt thou baniſh barb'rous Strife and Woe,
With purple Vengeance to the Realms below.
STERN Chiefs no more their crimſon'd Blades ſhall wield,
Nor deadly Thunders bellow o'er the Field;
Satiate of War, the Battle-breathing Steed
Peaceful ſhall range the Grove and verdant Mead:
No Drum ſhall animate the Soldier's Breaſt,
Nor piercing Fife arouſe him from his Reſt,
The Trump ſhrill-ſounding, and the Clang of Arms,
Shall ſhake the Plain no more with dire Alarms.
THE uſeleſs Rampart ſhall its Strength reſign,
And o'er the Baſtion ſpread the curling Vine;
Th'aſpiring Ivy round old Tow'rs ſhall ſtray,
And in the Trenches harmleſs Flocks ſhall play;
The chryſtal Streams ſhall flow without a Stain,
The Groves bloom ſpotleſs and each flow'ry Plain.
Countries oppreſs'd by War's deſtructive Rage
Again revive to bleſs a milder Age;
In the ſame Fields where Groves of Lances roſe,
The furrow'd Grain ſhall golden Ranks compoſe.
OH haſte, fair PEACE! begin thy pleaſing Reign,
Come, with each lovely Virtue in thy Train!
Then pure Religion's Precepts ſhall prevail,
Impartial Juſtice poiſe her balanc'd Scale;
Bright Liberty ſhall wanton in the Breeze,
Innoxious Pleaſure, philoſophic Eaſe,
Heart-chearing Mirth, and Plenty ever gay,
With a roſy Joy, ſhall tend thy gentle Sway!
HASTE then, O haſte, thy ſoft'ning Pow'r renew,
Bleſs ev'ry Clime, the Old-world and the New!
In friendly League unite each diſtant Shore,
And bid Mankind with Anger burn no more:
COMMERCE ſhall then expand without Controul,
Where Coaſts extend, or fartheſt Oceans roll;
Theſe ſpacious Realms their Treaſures ſhall unfold,
And Albion's Shore ſhall blaze with Indian Gold.
HAIL! happy Britain, in a Sovereign bleſt,
Who deems in Kings a virtuous Name the beſt;
Guardian of Right and ſacred Liberty,
Rome's glorious NUMA ſhall be ſeen in Thee;
Beneath thy Smile fair SCIENCE ſhall increaſe,
And form one Reign of LEARNING and of PEACE.

BURLINGTON, April 27.

To His EXCELLENCY
WILLIAM FRANKLIN, Eſq;
Governor and Commander in Chief in and over His MAJESTY's Province of NEW-JERSEY, and Territories thereon depending in America, Chancellor and Vice Admiral of the ſame,

The humble ADDRESS of the Preſbyterian Miniſters of the ſaid Province.

May it pleaſe your EXCELLENCY,

WE His Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Preſbyterian Miniſters of the Province of New-Jerſey, beg Leave, in the moſt cordial Manner, to congratulate your Excellency on the careful Superintendance of divine Providence, in returning you ſafe thro' the Perils of the Sea to your native Land, and particularly on your Acceſſion to the Government of this Province: And we do this with the greater Pleaſure, in that, from our Perſuaſion of the Generoſity of your Excellency's Sentiments, we can ſecurely confide in your Readineſs to maintain the Rights and Privileges of our Body inviolate.

As true Religion, a juſt Reverence of the divine Majeſty, not only tends to future Bleſſedneſs, but inſpires a dutiful Subjection to the Powers which he has ordained, and bears the moſt favourable Aſpect on the Happineſs and Proſperity of the Public, we cannot doubt but your Excellency, after the great Example of your Royal Conſtituent, will tenderly regard its Intereſts, and countenance the honeſt Promoters of ſo ſalutary a Syſtem.

And as a Behaviour becoming the ſacred Character we ſuſtain, is what alone can entitle us to your Excellency's Protection, and procure your Approbation, we ſhall make it our main Buſineſs to propagate genuine Chriſtianity, the common Religion of ſound Proteſtants; and by inculcating on His Majeſty's Subjects under our Care, the Neceſſity of Obedience to juſt Authority, ſhall do what in us lies to make your Excellency's Adminſtration eaſy and proſperous.

That your Excellency may long continue in your exalted Station among us, happy in every Relation, and a publick Bleſſing to the Province over which you preſide, is, and ſhall be, our daily and fervent Prayer. Preſented, in Behalf of the Body, by

SIR, Your Excellency's
moſt obedient, and humble Servants,
SAMUEL FINLEY,
WILLIAM KIRKPATRICK.

To which his EXCELLENCY was pleaſed to return the following

ANSWER.

GENTLEMEN,

THE Congratulations of ſo loyal and valuable Members of the Community as are the Preſbyterian Miniſters of this Province, cannot but be very acceptable to me. I heartily thank you for this Mark of your Reſpect, and the favourable Sentiments you are pleaſed to expreſs in my Behalf: And I aſſure you, that it ſhall be my conſtant Endeavours, ſo far to imitate the great Example of my Royal Maſter, as not to omit any Opportunity of promoting the general Intereſts of Religion, or of countenancing thoſe of your particular Profeſſion.

LONDON.

To the PRINTER.

SIR,

I HAVE ſent you the following ſcheme or plan, lately preſented to, and graciouſly received by, the Lords of the Admiralty, by the Gentlemen who have paſſed their examination for Lieutenants of the Navy.

The deſign thereof you will find is for the providing and employing a conſiderable number of thoſe ſeamen and non-commiſſion officers, who ſhortly will, by the peace, be diſcharged out of the Navy ſervice.

As the publication of this propoſal will extend the knowledge of it, and may be doing a peculiar ſervice to that body of men, who have, during the late war in particular, highly merited the public regard; your inſerting thereof, in your paper, will oblige

Your's, C. D.

A PLAN for continuing near 20,000 Seamen and Non-commiſſion Officers, diſcharged from the Navy, always ready for Government Service, without Expence, by extending the whole Fiſhery, and obtaining a perpetual Employ for thoſe Men, and thereby preventing their engaging in Foreign Service; as alſo upon an Emergency, a ſpeedy Method of manning his Majeſty's Ships of War, without Impreſſing.

THE great increaſe of the navy this laſt war, has occaſioned ſo many ſeamen to be diſcharged, that it is not poſſible for our mercantile navigation to employ them; therefore it is conceived, unleſs ſome expedient be put in execution, 20,000 ſeamen will remain unemployed, and thereby be obliged to ſeek foreign ſervice for their ſupport.

That excluſive of ſeamen and marine boys diſcharged from the navy, it is computed that near 500 non-commiſſion officers, who have paſſed their examinations, or Lieutenants, who have accompliſhed themſelves by, and in many years labour and ſervitude on board his Majeſty's ſhips of war, attended with a very heavy expence to their friends and relations, before they could be properly qualified and deemed ſufficient mariners, navigators, and pilots; and after all muſt be turned adrift, diſperſed, and, in all probability, intirely loſt to the marine force of England, before any employ can happen for them in the King's ſervice by another war; therefore it is preſumed the loſs of ſuch a body of qualified officers muſt be an irretrievable loſs to the nation, and merits the ſerious conſideration and attention of the legiſlature for the continuance of their employ in time of peace.

To remedy which it is propoſed, that all his Majeſty's frigates, tranſports, armed ſhips, fire ſhips, &c. more than neceſſary for the ſervice of the government, which can properly be converted for this ſervice, be employed in the Greenland fiſhery and Davis's Straits, to the amount of 125,600 tons of ſhipping, comprehended in 250 ſail, and to navigate thoſe ſhips will require 17,000 ſeamen, and 1500 non-commiſſion officers, for the following reaſons, viz. Firſt,

That all ſhips in the Greenland fiſhery, of neceſſity, are obliged to carry three times the number of hands required in our coaſting navigation of equal burthen, therefore it is thought to be the moſt eligible branch to employ ſuch a number of ſeamen.

That 250 ſail, of 500 tons each ſhip, upon an average, will employ 70 ſeamen, a commander, and five petty officers; ſo in proportion to the other ſhips of greater or leſs tonnage, from 600 to 300 tons burthen.

That the preſent method of carrying on the whale fiſhery, has never employed more than 3000 men in one ſeaſon, and otherwiſe is not a proper inducement to ſeamen (in time of peace) to embark; for the voyage ſeldom exceeds four or five months, and the wages per man not more than ſeven or eight pounds the voyage; and as the benefit ariſing from the bounty given by the government centers in the owners and maſters only, the ſeaman, after deducting extra clothes and liquor, &c. which he is obliged to equip himſelf with, on account of the ſeverity of the climate, he has little or nothing left for his ſupport the remaining ſeven or eight months. It is conceived,

Were this branch of commerce veſted in, or under the direction of the government, the men under the ſame regulations with reſpect to their pay, and alſo to be intitled to the benefit from the cheſt at Chatham and Greenwich hoſpital, in the ſame manner as diſabled ſeamen from ſhips of war, the trade would become more extenſive, and thereby enable the Engliſh nation to outvie the Hollanders; no neceſſity for ſo large a bounty, or recourſe to the uſual diſagreeable method of impreſſing men, in caſe of a future rupture with any foreign power; be leſs injurious to the merchants, and always afford a ſufficient number of ſhips for tranſporting his Majeſty's forces abroad upon an emergency.

That the 40s. per ton bounty, and the product of the oil and bone, will be more than ſufficient to ſupport the number of officers and ſeamen here propoſed, from a calculation I made in the year 1760 of the Dutch in that particular branch.

For inſtance, they employed about 70,000 tons of ſhipping, and upwards of 10,000 ſeamen, which brought home 376 ſiſh, valued in Holland upon an average at 500 l. ſterling each, amounting to 188,000 l. then it is demonſtrable, were 250 ſail of Engliſh ſhips employed in this commerce, admitting equal ſucceſs in the voyage, with the ſame proportion as to tonnage, it would be agreeable to the following eſtimate, viz.

VOYAGE	Dr.
17,500 Seamen, at 14 l. 12 s. 6d. per voyage, equal to their annual pay in the navy,	255,938
1,500 Warrant and petty officers, viz. a maſter and commander 5 l. maſter's mate 3 l. ſecond mate 2 l. carpenter 2 l. ſurgeon 3 l. and boatſwain 2 l. ſuppoſed at about 17 l. per month upon the whole, excluſive of their reſpective ſhares of fiſh brought to market,	55,250
19,000 Men victualling, at 5 l. per man,	95,000
Allowance for ſpirituous liquors, at 10 s. per man,	9,500
	415,668
Balance gained	164,312
	£ 580,000

VOYAGE	Cr.
The produce of the voyage,	330,000
And the bounty given by the government upon 125,000 tons, at 40 s.	250,000
	£ 580,000

Which ballance will be ſufficient to reimburſe the annual expence of the wear and tear of the ſhips employed, and gain 100,000 l.

The eſtabliſhing this branch of commerce, agreeable to the above plan, muſt be eſteemed the beſt ſeminary for ſeamen, navigators, and pilots, in time of peace; annoy and prevent ſurprizes from the enemy, as 17,500 able ſeamen, when embodied with ordinary ſeamen, landmen, and marines, allowing 175 able to be incorporated in each ſhip, will be ſufficient, upon an emergency, to man 100 ſail of the line of battle.

It will alſo be a conſiderable ſaving to the government, by employing a number of officers, who otherwiſe muſt be dependent upon the revenue for half pay.

As the officers and ſeamen to be employed may be reſident in various parts of the kingdom, many of whom, in all likelihood, have families, in order to make it comfortable and deſirable to all, I would propoſe the ſeveral ſhips to be ſtationed in different diſtricts, by having a number at the following ſea ports, viz.

Meſſina, Dec. 14. In the night, between the 8th and 9th, we had ſuch a ſtorm of rain, hail, wind, and lightning, that in leſs than an hour the torrents of rain became ſo violent, as to remove ſtones ten hundred weight, and break down ſeveral dykes and walls. The water in many houſes was five feet high. Seven perſons loſt their lives. Many gardens and fields are covered with earth and ſtones to the height of three or four feet.

Copenhagen, Feb. 6. By the laſt year's bill of births, burials, and marriages in the bailywick of Aggerſhuus, in Norway, it appears that two women were each delivered of three children at once; and another woman brought forth five children in one year only. Among other ſingularities, they reckon 150 married couples, who have lived together 80 years and upwards; 70 others who have lived together 90 years and upwards; twelve marriages from 100 to 105 years ſtanding, and another, that has laſted 110 years. They have alſo recorded the following caſe of a woman, remarkable for her piety and her misfortunes, who died laſt year aged 78: Her firſt Huſband wilfully drowned himſelf; her ſecond huſband loſt himſelf in the mountains; her only ſon kindled a pile of wood in a foreſt, and leapt into the flames; and her daughter, who was married, flung herſelf into a river.

Hague Feb. 25. Private letters from Stockholm acquaint us, that the ſupercargoes appointed to go on board the next India ſhips, are inſtructed to make due inquiry, whether the opening a commerce with Japan, be practicable or not? Whether a licence may not be obtained from the Chineſe Court, for carrying on a trade to to the Peninſula of Corea? And whether, if this can be obtained, it may not prove a means of ſending their manufactures into the northern parts of Tartary?

LONDON.

March 12. A Brief is now on Foot for the Colleges of Philadelphia and new York, and has been read in many Churches; in which our moſt excellent Sovereign has told us, "that the greateſt Satisfaction he can derive from the Succeſs of his Arms, and the vaſt Extenſion of his dominions abroad, will be to ſee theſe Advantages improved for enlarging the Sphere of Proteſtantiſm, increaſing the Number of good Men, and bringing barbarous Nations within the Pale of Religion and Civil Life."

One of the beſt Foundations for accompliſhing theſe Purpoſes, muſt be the Support of ſuch well regulated Seminaries of Knowledge as thoſe now recommended to our Benevolence, by the Royal Goodneſs and Example: But if we only conſider this great Work of propagating Chriſtianity, and eſtabliſhing its pureſt Forms in our Colonies, merely as a Matter of Civil Policy and Prudence, it may reaſonably claim our moſt ſerious Attention.

The preſent Time ſeems peculiarly calculated for this great End, as it ſeems to be the Æra appointed by Divine Providence for carrying this mighty Work into Execution. This was elegantly laid down in a Sermon preached on Sunday laſt at St. Paul's Cathedral, by a learned and eminent Divine, who concluded it with the following Obſervation:

"The aſtoniſhing Succeſſes of his Majeſty's Arms have diſcloſed a new and important Scene of Action, and opened unexpected Avenues into thoſe Savage Regions, for the Progreſs of Chriſtianity, and the Civilization of Mankind. And if the ſame wiſe and upright Councils, which have lately led us with ſuch Glory through a dangerous War, and have at length conducted us to a happy Peace, ſhall continue to guide us, I ſee not what can prevent us, if we are ſo inclined, from being the Inſtruments of Heaven, in ſpreading the Goſpel thro' Regions and Climates yet unknown."

For theſe good Purpoſes, it ſeems the natural proper Method to provide, in the firſt Place, a conſtant Supply of worthy Clergymen for the Engliſh Churches in America: And in the ſecond Place, a like conſtant Supply of zealous Miſſionaries, well fitted for propagating Chriſtianity among the Savages.

Though it be allowed, that ſome of the Clergy in our Colonies have approved themſelves Men of Merit, it will at the ſame Time be allowed, that the moſt zealous and able Miſſionary from England muſt find himſelf but ill qualified for converting the American Heathens, if we conſider the Difference of Language, their wild Way of living, and above all, the great Jealouſy and Prejudice which Savage Nations have towards Foreigners, or Innovations introduced by them.

Theſe Conſiderations, among many others, make it evident, that a College or Seminary in thoſe Parts is very much wanted; and therefore the providing ſuch a Seminary, has been long earneſtly propoſed and recommended to all thoſe, who have it in their Power to contribute to ſo good a Work.

The following is ſaid to be an exact Account of the Loſs of Men we have ſuſtained during the late War, in the Naval Service only.

The Number of Sailors and Marines employed this War were		184893
Killed in Engagements, and by Accidents	1512
Dead of Diſeaſes and miſſing	133708
Sailors now remaining, Part of whom are diſcharged	49673
	184893

Out of 7000 Soldiers employed in reducing the Havannah, not above 1500 of them are now living.

By the above Account, which ſeems calculated with great Exactneſs, it appears, that no more than 1512 Sailors and Marines have been killed during this laſt War, in their different and glorious Engagements againſt the Enemy; and the amazing Number of thoſe dead of Diſeaſes and miſſing amounts to 133,708; half of which, at leaſt, without Exaggeration, may be ſuppoſed to have periſhed by the Inclemency of the Weather, the Scurvy, or by living on ſalted Proviſions. A moſt alarming Circumſtance! that 132,196 more ſhould die of Diſeaſes, &c. than all the Efforts of our mortal Enemies could deſtroy in a long ſix Years War; and certainly it merits the moſt ſerious Conſideration of thoſe in Power to preſerve the Lives of our Sailors and Soldiers, always a Terror to the Enemies of Great-Britain.

The national Expence of laſt Year has been ſtated at 18,655,750l. and of the Year before at 19,619,119 l. and theſe have been juſtly thought immenſe Sums. However, ſeveral Millions more annually, raiſed by the Government upon the People, ought to be added to thoſe Accounts.

Thus the Expence of 1761, as ſtated in the Ways and Means,		l. 19,619,119
The King's Civil Liſt, not mentioned in thoſe Ways and Means,		800,000
The Annuities paid annually to the Public Creditors above		4,400,000
The Surplus of the Sinking Fund, ſuppoſed above a Million,		1,200,000
	Sum total	26,019,119

The Expence of 1761, then (excluſive of the long Annuity, that could not be bought up for Three Millions) is above Twenſix Millions, which is more than One Million Sterling every Fortnight, expended by the Government. The Supplies for 1762, which are likewiſe burthened with an Annuity, amount by the above Computation to upwards of Twenty-five Millions. The Accounts of the two Years together, excluſive of the Annuities, are Fifty-one Millions; which is more than all the real Revenues of all the other Kingdoms of Europe united.

The public Entry of their Excellencies the Venetian Ambaſſadors, is put off till after Eaſter: Their Coaches, which came over from France, are the grandeſt ever ſeen upon ſuch an Occaſion; one is red and Gold, the ſecond green and Gold, and the third blue and Silver. The firſt Coach is to be drawn by eight beautiful Horſes; and it is believed that this Entry will be the grandeſt ever ſeen in England. The Maſter of the Horſe to their Excellencies has given ſtrict Orders not to ſhew the Coaches to any one before the Entry is made.

On Friday laſt came aſhore at Margate, Capt. Jennings, and Cornet Sackville, with 35 Men belonging to Gen. Waldgrave's Regiment: They came from Williamſtadt, in the William, Capt. Plummer, and in their Paſſage ran on the Kentiſh Coaſt, where they took to their Boats, leaving on board the Veſſel 15 Men, and 32 Horſes. Two of the Margate Boats went out in queſt of the Ship, which they found the next Day, with her Hull ſeveral Feet under Water; the Men to ſave themſelves, took to the Main and Foretop, and were all ſafely brought on Shore at Margate on Monday laſt. The People ſaved nothing but what they had on their Backs, and had nothing to eat all the while they were in that diſtreſſed Condition. The Horſes were all drowned in the Hold. From this the Report of a Veſſel being loſt, and only 15 Perſons ſaved, took its Riſe.

March 15. Yeſterday morning part of the Inniſkilling regiment of dragoons, which lately came from Germany, marched through Weſtminſter, with their ſwords drawn, and a French horn playing before them; both men and horſes looked extremely well.

It is with pleaſure we hear, that a reſolution is taken for a thorough inſpection to be made how the large ſupplies granted for carrying on the late war, have been diſpoſed of; and as this arduous taſk is to be undertaken by gentlemen of probity and worth, it is hoped it will not dwindle away to nothing, and vaniſh like ſmoke, as in former times.

Part of the Britiſh troops at preſent in Portugal, are ordered to ſome of our acquiſitions in America.

The Marquis of Granby, it is ſaid, has ſubſcribed one thouſand pounds towards carrying into execution the noble plan for eſtabliſhing a ſchool or hoſpital, for ſupporting the orphans of inferior officers who have been ſlain in the late war, whether by land or ſea.

They write from Paris, that the demolition of the forts, mole, and cunette at Dunkirk, is to be carried on under the inſpection of ſuch engineers as the King of Great Britain ſhall ſend thither for that purpoſe; his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty being determined to have no more diſputes with the court of London on that head.

Laſt week a ſailor who had been paid off on board one of the men of war in Portſmouth harbour, being in liquor, ſwore he would throw his wages overboard, which amounted to 24 guineas, and actually did ſo, in ſpite of all that his brother tars could do to prevent it.

Amidſt the abundance of tales received from Portſmouth, and other maritime towns, with regard to the laviſh pranks of ſailors, it is with pleaſure that we communicate an inſtance of contrary behaviour that happened lately at Southampton, in the conduct of an honeſt, brave, and fortunate fellow, who hath been many years paſt ſtationed in the Eaſt-Indies, and who by prize money, good œconomy and induſtry, hath found means to return poſſeſſed of upwards of one thouſand pounds. On enquiry after his family, he found that his father had been dead ſome time, and much in debt; he immediately made himſelf acquainted with the creditors of the deceaſed, invited them to a public houſe, entertained them with a handſome and plentiful ſupper, and demanded each perſon's accompt, diſcharged all the debts, and the bill of the houſe, &c. the whole amounting to more than one hundred pounds.

It is ſtrongly reported that advice was received, by the laſt poſt from Holland, that Col. Draper had made himſelf maſter of the Manilla iſlands, and had found therein money and goods to a great value.

Inverneſs, March 3. This day the Earl of Sutherland's battalion of Highlanders was muſter'd, review'd, and lodged their arms in preſence of Lieut. Col. Wedderburn of the 68th regiment. The regiment was very complete, and made a very fine appearance; after having lodged their arms, the men were thanked by the commanding officer of the regiment, for their good behaviour ſince they were raiſed, and received his Majeſty's royal bounty of ten ſhillings each; after which they diſperſed according to the orders, without the leaſt noiſe or diſturbance. Since this regiment has been raiſed, there has not one man deſerted, and there has never been a complaint from any quarters they were in.

Nenagh, March 2. Five of the Levellers, who have lately done great miſchief in many parts of this country, have been lodged in our goal. One of them was taken in a white ſhirt over his cloaths.

Dublin, March 8. Letters from the county of Tipperary bring melancholy accounts of the outrages committed by thoſe people called Levellers. They cut out the tongue, and cut off the lip of a poor man at Caſtle-Otway, and have greatly abuſed ſeveral other people in that neighbourhood. Their Excellencies the Lords Juſtices have been pleaſed to order their proclamation, offering 100 l. for diſcovering any perſon concerned in cutting out the aforementioned perſon's tongue; and they have been pleaſed to ſend down a company of an independent troop of horſe militia, with ſeveral ſtand of arms, to Thomas Otway, Eſq; who hath been very active againſt theſe Levellers.

CHARLES-TOWN (in SOUTH-CAROLINA) April 30.

The Brig Carolina, of and from this port, for Jamaica, Samuel Grove maſter, after eſcaping from two other privateers, was taken the 31ſt of January laſt, about ten leagues W. of Cape Nicola, by a French ſchooner of 8 carriage and 14 ſwivel guns, and 80 men, called L'Eſperance, Monſ. Sarrazin commander, and carried into Port-au-Prince. The ſame privateer, in company with five others, had the day before taken a ſhip from Boſton for Jamaica, William Walter maſter, and carried her into the ſame port.

The ſloop Nancy, Peter Cope, and the ſloop Alexander, Thomas Woodhouſe (both armed veſſels) of and for Jamaica from this port, were likewiſe taken, about 5 leagues W. of Cape Nicola, on the 16th of February, after being dogged two days and nights, and ſeveral times attacked, by 4 French privateers, and carried into Port-au-Prince. They boarded Woodhouſe's veſſel before he ſurrendered.

B O S T O N, May 16.

This Morning Captain Mallard, in a Maſt Ship, arrived here from London, which he left the ſecond of April; but we have not yet received any Prints. Captain Jarvis was arrived at London, after a ſhort Paſſage. Captain Jacobſon ſailed for this Place before Captain Mallard.

PEACE was proclaimed in London on the 26th Day of March laſt.

N E W-P O R T, May 16.

The Brigantine Betſey, Captain George Buckmaſter, arrived here laſt Monday, in 33 Days from Berbicia, and informs us, That on the 26th of March he ſailed from Surrinam for that Place, with 120 Officers and Soldiers, and on his Arrival found that moſt of the white Inhabitants of Berbicia had repaired to Fort St. Andrew, at the River's Mouth, the Negroes having poſſeſſed themſelves of all the Plantations which lay along the River: That he was informed, by the Governor, that the Negroes had murdered between 40 and 50 Whites, and had ſeveral of the white Women in Poſſeſſion: That he, in Company with two Ships, took the Governor and Soldiers on board, and went up to the ſaid Governor's Plantation, which, on their Appearance, the Negroes quitted; but in two Days after 5 or 600 of them came and attacked it, whom the Whites, with the Loſs of one Man, ſoon beat off: That after they had been at this Plantation ſix Days, the Governor received a Letter from the Negroes, letting him know, that if he would make Peace with them, they would give him the lower Part of the Colony, and they would keep the upper; if not, they would wait on him in a Day or two, burn the Ships, and cut all the People's Throats. Captain Buckmaſter came away the Evening after this Letter was received, and ſailed out of the River in two Days after, when he met with a Brig from Barbados, which had 500 Soldiers on board, bound to Demarara, being apprehenſive the Negroes would rebel there alſo.

N E W-Y O R K, May 19.

On Tueſday laſt arrived here a Sloop from Martinico, which brought Letters for ſeveral Gentlemen in Town. We hear that a Veſſel had juſt arrived there, that was met at Sea by another Veſſel from the Eaſt-Indies, bound to England, having Col. Coote on board, who ſtopt the Veſſel till he wrote and ſent on board her a Letter for General Rufane, Governor of Martinico, giving an Account of the Conqueſt of the Iſland of Manilla, by Col. Draper, in November laſt, where he found Two Millions, ſome ſay Two and a Half Millions Sterling in Specie, and that a rich Acapulco Ship had alſo fallen into his Hands.

The ſame Day Captain ---------- arrived here from the Havannah, which Place he left the Second Inſt. He acquaints us, That the Day before he ſailed from thence, an Engliſh Officer, that had formerly been a Sergeant, but had obtained a Commiſſion for his Bravery at the Attack of the Moro, was executed there for the Murder of an Engliſh Soldier, which was occaſioned by Means of a WOMAN; and that a Spaniard, who had been one of the Murderers of Meſſrs. Boyd and Reed, turned King's Evidence, and diſcovered the whole Scene; but notwithſtanding, he was to be executed the 3d Inſt. The Spaniard ſaid there were ſix concerned, who all fled to the Mountains; and that by the noble Reſiſtance made by Mr. Boyd, who got a Hanger in the Fray, they were almoſt cut to Pieces before they could finiſh him. Mr. Reed they finiſhed at one Blow, as he was leaning down to draw ſome Wine out of a Caſk for them.

P H I L A D E L P H I A, May 26.

On Tueſday, the 17th Inſtant, a public Commencement was held at the COLLEGE, in this City, in the Preſence of a learned, polite, and very brilliant Aſſembly. Every Part of the public Hall was crowded with Spectators. His Honour the GOVERNOR, who is one of the Truſtees of this Inſtitution, was pleaſed to attend. A great Number of the Clergy, of different Denominations, together with many other Gentlemen from the neighbouring Parts, were likewiſe preſent.

The Exerciſes were opened in the Morning with an elegant ſalutatory Oration in Latin, by one of the Candidates. This was ſucceeded by a forenſic Diſputation, which gave high Satisfaction to the Audience, as it was on a Subject that was intereſting, and the Diſputants diſcovered a great deal of Sprightlineſs, Wit and good Senſe, in the Courſe of the Debate.

In the Afternoon the Exerciſes began with a ſyllogiſtic Diſputation in Latin. The Degrees were conferred by the Vice Provoſt, and a SOLEMN CHARGE was delivered by him from the Pulpit to the Candidates. The valedictory Oration was then ſpoken with great Propriety, and the young Orator met with deſerved Applauſe.

The whole Performance was cloſed by a Dialogue, and an Ode on Peace, ſet to Muſic, which was well performed by a Sett of Gentlemen and Ladies, who kindly and generouſly employed their agreeable Talents, to do Honour to the Occaſion.

The following Gentlemen were admitted to Degrees at the Commencement, viz. James Anderſon, John Davis, Iſaac Hunt, Robert Johnſton, James Lang, William Paxton, Stephen Porter, Jonathan Sargent, of Naſſau Hall, and John Stewart, to the Degree of Batchelor of Arts; Patrick Aliſon, Thomas Bond, and Thomas Mifflin, to the Degree of Maſter of Arts.

Alſo the Reverend Mr. John Rogers, the Reverend Mr. John Miller, and Thomas M'Keen Eſq; were admitted to the Honorary Degree of Maſter of Arts.

Every thing was conducted with the utmoſt Decency and Order. The Candidates acquitted themſelves in their Exerciſes to the Satisfaction of all preſent, and have thereby derived conſiderable Honour to themſelves, and to the Inſtitution.
